Telecommunications Structure and Management in the Executive Branch of Government 1900-1970

Thomas E. Will,2019-07-16 In early 1970 President Richard M Nixon created a new executive office the Office of Telecommunications Policy OTP and appointed Dr Clay T Whitehead as OTP s first director Whitehead had previously been on the staff of Peter Flanagan a presidential assistant responsible for telecommunications policy at the White House What was the motivation behind this action Were political interests being served With what results Thomas Will believes that these and other questions must be raised in view of the history of the Nixon administration In an attempt to answer them he examines the development of telecommunications policy in the executive branch from 1900 to 1970 Dr Will reviews the early executive branch involvement in radio telecommunications the Radio Act of 1927 and the Communications Act of 1934 the technological advance of radio telecommunications and its effect on the executive branch before and after World War II the appointments of telecommunications advisors to presidents from 1951 to 1967 and the creation of the President s Task Force in 1967 to deal with the problems created by an inherently limited radio spectrum He traces the steps taken to create the OTP and analyzes the extent to which the office reflected a traditional progression of executive branch telecommunications authority His study and conclusions are directly and essentially relevant to the current debate on telecommunications policy

Major Management Challenges and Program Risks David M. Walker,2000-08 Provides a list of open recommendations to help solve problems in areas GAO designated as major management challenges in its Jan 1999 Performance and Accountability Report Series It focuses on the areas that are most important to solving the problem generally 10-12 per management challenge and briefly summarizes the other recommendations. The report addresses the Depts of Agriculture, Commerce, DoD, Education, Energy, HHS, Interior, Justice, Labor, State, Transportation, Treasury, and VA. Agency for International Development, EPA, NASA, Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Social Security Admin, and USPS. Includes dozens of tables. Managing Business and Service Networks Lundy Lewis, 2005-12-07. Most everything in our experience requires management in some form or other: our gardens, our automobiles, our minds, our bodies, our love, lives, our businesses, our forests, our countries, etc. Sometimes we don't call it management per se. We seldom talk about managing our minds or automobiles. But if we think of management in terms of monitoring, maintaining, and cultivating with respect to some goal, then it makes sense. We certainly monitor an automobile albeit unconsciously to make sure that it doesn't exhibit signs of trouble. And we certainly try to cultivate our minds. This book is about managing networks. That itself is not a new concept. We've been managing the networks that support our telephones for about 100 years, and we've been managing the networks that support our computers for about 20 years. What is new, and what motivated me to write this book, is the following: i) the enormous advancements in networking technology as we transition from the 20th century to the 21st century; ii) the increasing dependence of human activities on networking technology; and iii) the commercialization of services that depend on networking technology, e.g., email and electronic commerce.
