Telephone Nursing The Process:

Telephone Nursing Sandra Matherly, Shannon Hodges, 1990-04-01      Telephone Triage & Management Reba McGear, Jo Price Simms, 1988      Telephone Triage Protocols for Nurses Julie K. Briggs, 2020-05-06 Performing triage requires the ability to make quick evidence based decisions based on limited information Nurses are often required to perform triage either over the phone in urgent care settings in the emergency department and even in office settings This reference provides over 200 triage protocols for evaluating a person's symptoms Each symptom entry lists pertinent questions grouped by urgency level and advises the clinician when and where the patient should be referred This book is a need to have comprehensive user friendly resource for every nurse who performs triage      Telephone Triage Protocols for Nursing Julie Briggs, 2015-05-22 Performing telephone triage requires the ability to make quick and effective decisions based on limited information This rapid access resource delivers more than 200 triage protocols for evaluating patients symptoms over the telephone Each symptom entry lists questions grouped by urgency level to determine whether the caller should seek emergency care immediately seek medical care the same day call back for appointment or follow home care instructions Detailed home care instructions are then provided Simple direct and useful this is the most comprehensive and user friendly telephone triage book available      Telephone advice nursing Christina Johnson, 2019-01-04 Background Telenursing has rapidly expanded in many countries In Sweden a national telephone advisory nursing service reaches the entire nation and receives approximately 4.5 million calls per year The six phase nursing process assessment nursing diagnosis setting goals planning implementation and evaluation can be used when managing a caller's health problem In telenursing a person centred approach makes for more satisfied and appreciative callers The core component of interaction is the verbal communication between the telenurse and caller Several studies have revealed the need for the development of communication competence in telenursing Structured analyses of conversations between telenurses and callers is one way to increase telenurses awareness of their communication and interpersonal competence This type of analysis requires a valid formative self assessment tool To evaluate communicative effectiveness the patient perspective of the interpersonal aspects of interaction are described as a necessary component and satisfaction surveys designed for a telenursing context are recommended Therefore a questionnaire is needed that evaluates the effects of telenurse communication training from the caller's perspective Aims The overall aim of these two studies was to develop tools to enable improvements and evaluations in communication and interpersonal competence in telenursing from the perspective of both the telenurse and the caller Study 1 To develop a self assessment tool aiming to raise telenurses awareness of their communication and interpersonal competence and highlight areas in need of improvement Study 2 To develop and assess content validity of a theoretically anchored questionnaire that explores caller satisfaction in TAN as a result of the interaction between the caller and the telenurse Methods Study 1 The development and the evaluation of content validity of the Telenursing Self Assessment Tool

TSAT started with a literature search and domain identification which were used to generate the items. The assessment of the content validity was performed in two steps. First, an expert group completed two rounds of assessments using Content Validity Index (CVI). Second, telenurses tested the tool and assessed the content validity using CVI. Thereafter, the telenurses participated in consensus discussions. Refinements of the tool were done after every assessment.

Study 2: The development and the evaluation of content validity of the Telenursing Interaction and Satisfaction Questionnaire (TISQ) started with a literature search and domain identification which were used to generate the items. The assessment of the content validity was performed in two steps. First, cognitive interviews were performed with the callers, the target population. Next, experts evaluated the content validity using CVI. Refinements of the tool were done after every assessment.

The Interaction Model of Client Health Behavior (IMCHB) provided theoretical guidance and support.

Results:

Study 1: The TSAT with 58 items was developed. The items were structured according to the nursing process and the tool was judged as having good content validity.

Study 2: The TISQ consisting of 60 items based on the IMCHB was developed. The questionnaire was found to exhibit good content validity.

Conclusions: This thesis describes the development and assessment of content validity of two theoretically anchored tools aimed to improve and evaluate communication and interpersonal competence in telenursing from the perspective of both the telenurse and the caller. The TSAT is meant to create learning opportunities to provide self-direction, feedback and coaching and to guide the telenurse through the nursing process using a person-centred approach. The TISQ aims to explore the callers' satisfaction and the callers' perceptions of the interaction with the telenurse. With better knowledge about this communication improvement and education in telenursing can be tailored to enhance caller satisfaction.

Basic Steps in Planning Nursing Research Marilyn Wood, Janet C. Kerr, 2011. Basic Steps in Planning Nursing Research: From Question to Proposal is the perfect introduction to the research process. It details the development of an effective research plan and guides readers through all stages of the process from finding a research topic to the final written proposal. It takes an in-depth focus on the planning process which makes it an excellent tool for beginners while still being relevant to people at all levels of study who need to develop a research plan. The Seventh Edition continues to teach readers how to prepare an appropriate question and topic and the steps it takes to formulate a conclusion. All of the chapters have been updated with new references and current information including a renewed focus on evidence-based practice and an expansion of research ethics. Proposals are included at the end of the text to help students learn.

Telenursing Charles C. Sharpe, 2000-11-30. This is the first book to explore this emergent role of the nursing profession. It examines the unique legal regulatory and professional issues this neoteric mode of nursing practice presents. Telenursing as a subset of telehealth is defined and a review of its history, present status and future in the U.S. health care system is discussed. Concomitant legal accountability and risk for malpractice liability are examined. Risk management strategies and survival tactics in the event of a lawsuit are presented, particularly the legal significance of and essential need for defensive nursing documentation. A brief overview of malpractice law is provided and the essentials of requisite malpractice insurance for the telenurse practitioner are outlined. The book also addresses a number of other professional regulatory and licensure issues, particularly the contentious issue of multistate licensing and the various models to facilitate it that are being offered and rejected by nursing organizations and associations. The anticipated changes in our health care delivery system that will be engendered by breakthroughs in science and technology are described. The implications of such changes for patients as consumers of health care are analyzed, particularly the privacy and confidentiality of electronic medical records.
