Latin America's Contested Pasts in Telenovelas and TV Series Mónica Contreras Saiz, Stefan Rinke, 2024-12-30 In Latin America the production of telenovelas and TV series about the region s recent and traumatic past has grown considerably in the last 20 years affecting societal perceptions of the past historical consciousness and political culture While these TV products are usually perceived as trivial they do provide a historical framework to a wide audience which finds it easier to relate to the national past through fiction than through history books journalistic articles or documentaries Latin America s Contested Pasts in Telenovelas and TV Series analyzes the historical culture of Latin American society embodied in telenovelas and TV series from the 1960s to this day It compiles regional case studies on the televised representation of 20th century dictatorships in Chile Argentina and Brazil as well as the war against drug trafficking and the armed conflict in Colombia Highlighting the political and social relevance of fictional television the contributions offer interdisciplinary insights into its discourses and narratives from the heroization of criminals to the search for reconciliation and the construction of a historical memory *EBOOK: Prego! One possible description of the contemporary medial landscape in Western culture is that it has gone meta to an unprecedented extent so that a remarkable meta culture has emerged Indeed metareference i e self reflexive comments on or references to various kinds of media related aspects of a given medial artefact or performance specific media and arts or the media in general is omnipresent and can nowadays be encountered in high art and literature as frequently as in their popular counterparts in the traditional media as well as in new media From the Simpsons pop music children s literature computer games and pornography to the contemporary visual arts feature film postmodern fiction drama and even architecture everywhere one can find metareferential explorations comments on or criticism of representation medial conventions or modes of production and reception and related issues Within individual media and genres notably in research on postmodernist metafiction this outspoken tendency towards metaization is known well enough and various reasons have been given for it Yet never has there been an attempt to account for what one may aptly term the current metareferential turn on a larger transmedial scale This is what The Metareferential Turn in Contemporary Arts and Media Forms Functions Attempts at Explanation undertakes to do as a sequel to its predecessor the volume Metareference across Media vol 4 in the series Studies in Intermediality which was dedicated to theoretical issues and transhistorical case studies Coming from diverse disciplinary and methodological backgrounds the contributors to the present volume propose explanations of impressive subtlety breadth and depth for the current situation in addition to exploring individual forms and functions of metareference which may be linked with particular explanations As expected there is no monocausal reason to be found for the situation under scrutiny yet the proposals made have in their compination a remarkable explanatory power which contributes to a better understanding of an important facet of current media production and reception The essays assembled in the volume which also contains an introduction with a detailed survey over the possibilities of accounting for the metareferential turn will be relevant to students and scholars from a wide variety of fields cultural history at large intermediality and media studies as well as more particularly literary studies music film and art history Blind Children Albert Piltz, Arthur Leroy Carson, Gene Carl Fusco, James Hartman Blessing, John Walker Jones, Joseph Candler Hutchinson, Kathryn Gladys Heath, Thomas Ewing Cotner, 1962
