David D. Caron,Harry N. Scheiber,2014-07-17 The advent of the nuclear age in 1945 fundamentally altered the course of human events The oceans are not the focus of the nuclear age but the affairs of the oceans are deeply woven into the history of that age Knowledge of what the nuclear age has meant for the oceans however is highly fragmented and there exists a surprising gap in research on the impact of the nuclear age on the oceans and on ocean law and policy Ranging from dumped wastes to transportation to security this study frames the complex multidimensional set of relationships between the oceans and the nuclear age and illuminates patterns of impact and response in ocean law This timely expanded edition includes a new chapter by Lt Todd Hutchins USN on Nuclear Risks in Coastal Areas Legal and Regulatory Responses It provides a full discussion of the 2011 coastal Fukushima Nuclear Power Plant disaster together with analysis more generally of the challenges to the environment and to the legal order globally that are posed by coastal siting of nuclear power plants

Hoffecker,2017-10-31 Modern Humans is a vivid account of the most recent and perhaps the most important phase of human evolution the appearance of anatomically modern people Homo sapiens in Africa less than half a million years ago and their later spread throughout the world Leaving no stone unturned John F Hoffecker demonstrates that Homo sapiens represents a major transition in the evolution of living systems in terms of fundamental changes in the role of non genetic information Modern Humans synthesizes recent findings from genetics including the rapidly growing body of ancient DNA the human fossil record and archaeology relating to the African origin and global dispersal of anatomically modern people Hoffeecker places humans in the broad context of the evolution of life emphasizing the critical role of genetic and non genetic forms of information in living systems as well as how changes in the storage transmission and translation of information underlie major transitions in evolution He also draws on information and complexity theory to explain the emergence of Homo sapiens in Africa several hundred thousand years ago and the rapid and unprecedented spread of our species into a variety of environments in Australia and Eurasia including the Arctic and Beringia beginning between 75 000 and 60 000 years ago This magisterial work will appeal to all with an interest in the ever fascinating field of human evolution     Habitat Plan for the South Atlantic Region: Essential Fish Habitat Requirements for Fishery Management Plans of the South Atlantic Fishery Management Council ,1998     Dictionary of Occupational Titles ,1991
