The Language of Journalism
Melvin J. Lasky, 2018-04-17
The newspaper is to the twentieth century what the novel was for the nineteenth century the expression of popular sentiment
In the first of a three volume study of journalism and what it has meant as a source of knowledge and as a mechanism for orchestrating mass ideology
Melvin J Lasky provides a major overview
His research runs the gamut of material found in newspapers from the trivial to the profound from pseudo science to habits of solid investigation
The volume is divided into four parts
The first attacks deficiencies in grammar and syntax with examples from newspapers and magazines drawn from the German as well as English language press
The second examines the key issues of journalism accuracy and authenticity
Lasky provides an especially acute account of differences between active literacy and passive viewing or the relationship of word and picture in defining authenticity
The third part emphasizes the problem of bias in everything from racial reporting to cultural correctness
This is the first systematic attempt to study racial nomenclature identity labeling and literary discrimination
Lasky follows closely the model set by George Orwell a half century earlier
The final section of the work covers the competition between popular media and the redefinition of pornography and its language
The volume closes with an examination of how the popular culture both influenced and was influential upon literary titans like Hemingway
