The Great War Hunt Tooley, 2015-11-29 We have often heard about the brutal world of the trenches the willingness of brave young soldiers and the apparent indifference of the generals but reevaluations of the Great War in previous decades have shown us much more complexity and in many cases some surprising reconstructions of very standard narratives of the war The traditional isolation of the battle front from the home front which historians have tended to observe has given us an incomplete understanding of both fronts In this study of Word War I Hunt Tooley crosses the boundaries of national histories to examine the various connections between the 400 mile long Western Front and the home fronts of the United Kingdom France Germany Canada Australia and the United States Tooley draws on recent research and the wealth of primary souce material available to provide a broad synthesis of a complex event and to create a more holistic view of the war as men stayed in touch with those at home as governments responded to events on the battlefield and as writers poets and artists brought the cultural impulses of Europe to the deadly world of the Western Front In his clearly written wide ranging study Tooley argues that the seeds of much of the 20th century may have been planted

well before the First World War but as many social critics politicians soldiers women s movement leaders and others predicted the cultivation of these seeds in war would have a powerful and formative effect on the social political and cultural processes which shaped the 20th century Cultivating Fields of Progress Amalia Ribi Forclaz,2025-02-03 After the First World War the improvement of working and living conditions in agriculture became an international issue for the first time Led by the International Labour Organization and related organizations as well as overlapping expert networks agrarian interest groups trade unionists and farmer representatives the immediate interwar and post war years were a fertile time for international debates knowledge production and policy making Cultivating Fields of Progress traces the thematic temporal and geographical scope of these debates for the first time from the plight of landless farmworkers in Europe in the early 1920s to the conditions of plantation workers in the 1950s By using the archives of international organizations the book considers how and to what ends questions of rural poverty and problematic labour conditions both in Europe and overseas made their way to the world stage against a backdrop of broader discourses on social progress decolonization and economic development Bringing the tools of social history to the study of economic and political history allows for a better understanding of the international development and circulation of ideas and theories of agriculture as well as broader insights into the nature of power policy and knowledge production across a period of global change Fourth International Conference on Minority Languages: Western and Eastern European papers Durk Gorter,1990 A compilation of papers taken from the Fourth International Conference on Minority Languages While the first volume focused on the more theoretically orientated papers this volume emphasizes the inventorial or descriptive approach Management Consultancy and the British State Antonio E.
