Social Space And Governance In Urban China:

Social Space and Governance in Urban China David Bray, 2022 Centered on the urban workplace the danwei workunit has been the fundamental social and spatial unit of urban China under socialism Not only was it the source of employment wages and other material benefits for the vast majority of urban residents it was also the institution through which the urban population was housed organized regulated policed educated trained protected and surveyed Furthermore as the basic unit of urban society each danwei became a community providing its members with identity a face and social belonging With particular focus on the link between spatial forms and social organization this book traces the origins and development of this critical institution up to the present day Recent economic restructuring has seen the danwei lose its dominant role yet its presence still influences the possibilities for urban transformation Moreover the author argues the new institutions emerging in its place display important characteristics of the old danwei system Social Space and Governance in Urban China

David Bray, 2005 The danwei workunit has been the fundamental social and spatial unit of urban China under socialism With particular focus on the link between spatial forms and social organization this book traces the origins and development of this critical institution up to the present day The Politics of Community Building in Urban China Thomas Heberer, Christian Göbel, 2011-03-29 This book aims to make sense of the recent reform of neighbourhood institutions in urban China It builds on the observation that the late 1990s saw a comeback of the state in urban China after the increased economization of life in the 1980s had initially forced it to withdraw Based on several months of fieldwork in locations ranging from poor and dilapidated neighbourhoods in Shenyang City to middle class gated communities in Shenzhen the authors analyze recent attempts by the central government to enhance stability in China's increasingly volatile cities In particular they argue that the central government has begun to restructure urban neighbourhoods and has encouraged residents to govern themselves by means of democratic procedures Heberer and Göbel also contend that whilst on the one hand the central government has managed to bring the Party state back into urban society especially by tapping into a range of social groups that depend on it it has not however managed to establish a broad base for participation In testing this hypothesis the book examines the rationales strategies and impacts of this comeback by systematically analyzing how the reorganization of neighbourhood committees was actually conducted and find that opportunities for participation were far more limited than initially promised The book will be of interest to students and scholars of Chinese Studies Development Studies Urban Studies and Asian Studies in general China's Urban Communities Peter G. Rowe, Ann Forsyth, Har Ye Kan, 2016-06-06 Cities in China are extremely dynamic and experience high pressure to grow transform and adapt But in what directions on what basis and to which goals The authors and their team have researched the intensive transformation processes of about twenty five neighborhood communities that were created in Beijing Shanghai Shenzhen and Suzhou in the last 30 years ranging from inner city to peripheral areas starting from planning and leading up to user satisfaction studies

This in depth overview on neighborhood typology and development in China follows the book Emergent Architectural Territories in East Asian Cities by Peter Rowe who is among the world s best scholars on urban transformation in East Asia together with his colleagues Ann Forsyth and Har Ye Kan

China's Emerging Middle Class Cheng Li,2010-10-01 The rapid emergence and explosive growth of China s middle class have enormous consequences for that nation s domestic future for the global economy and for the whole world In China s Emerging Middle Class noted scholar Cheng Li and a team of experts focus on the sociopolitical ramifications of the birth and growth of the Chinese middle class over the past two decades The contributors from diverse disciplines and different regions examine the development and evolution of China s middle class from a variety of analytical perspectives What is its educational and occupational makeup Are its members united by a common identity by a shared political vision and worldview How does the Chinese middle class compare with its counterparts in other countries The contributors shed light on these and many other issues pertaining to the rapid rise of the middle class in the Middle Kingdom Contributors Jie Chen Old Dominion University Deborah Davis Yale University Bruce J Dickson George Washington University Geoffrey Gertz Brookings Han Sang Jin Seoul National University Hsin Huang Michael Hsiao National Taiwan University Homi Kharas Brookings Li Chunling Chinese Academy of Social Sciences Jing Lin University of Maryland College Park Sida Liu University of Wisconsin Madison Lu Hanlong Shanghai Academy of Social Sciences Joyce Yanyun Man Peking University Lincoln Center Ethan Michelson Indiana University Bloomington Qin Chen Hohai University Xiaoyan Sun Beijing Foreign Studies University Luigi Tomba Australian National University Jianying Wang Yale University and Zhou Xiaohong Nanjing University

Urban Village Redevelopment in Beijing, China Ran Liu,2024-06-12 The book provides a multi stage assessment of the changing housing opportunities of migrant workers in the three stages of Beijing s urban village development emergence erasure and preservation The volume re theorizes Henry Lefebvre s notion of the right to the city as a largely property based concept that falls within the city s hybrid tenure matrix of varying degrees of tenure security and formality that is undergoing entrepreneurialization or gentrification This is another highly valuable contribution to China studies from the geographical perspective of the territorial politics at play in the process of urban village redevelopment which has fostered a new propertied landowning class as winners while moving low wage migrants The book takes the reader on a fascinating journey from peri urban villages to IT worker villages to artists villages revealing a restless landscape of urbanism and state centered governance as well as bottom up counterplots The fieldwork explores the contradictions of urban village redevelopment in Beijing On the one hand it is state dominated and yet creates new housing opportunities for migrants on the other it disrupts old orders but also encourages new forms of grassroots alliances The empirical studies of Beijing s urban villages enrich Henry Lefebvre s discourse on planetary urbanisation Gilles Deleuze and Felix Guattari s notion of the rhizome and Elinor Ostrom s ideas on the wise management of the commons

China Constructing Capitalism Michael Keith,Scott Lash,Jakob Arnoldi,Tyler Rooker,2013-09-23 China has been growing at over ten per cent annually since 1978 but this has only come to very widespread notice in the past decade This received wisdom about China has been largely of two types both of which more or less understand China in the context of neoliberalism The more business or business studies oriented literature seems to argue that if China does not adapt the rule of clear and distinct property and contract law in short of Western institutions its economy will stall The second set of voices is more clearly from the left arguing that the Chinese economy and city is neo liberal For them China does not diverge widely from the Anglo American model that from 2008 has brought the world economy to its knees China Constructing Capitalism takes issue with these analyses The authors argue that it is not Western neo liberalism that is constructing the Chinese economy but instead that China is constructing its own version of capitalism The two central theses of their argument are economic life neo liberal economic life is individualized and disembedded while the China model is relational and situated urban change China has created a form of local state capitalism which stands in contrast to neoliberal versions of the city This book analyses China as a risk culture examining among others Chinese firms and political ties property development migrant urbanisms and share trading rooms It scrutinises the ever present shadow of the risk averse yet uncertainty creating state China Constructing Capitalism is a must read for social scientists policy makers and investors

China's Changing Welfare Mix Beatriz Carrillo, Jane Duckett, 2011-06-10 This book draws attention to two neglected areas in the growing body of research on welfare in China subnational variation and the changing mix of state and non state provision The contributors to this volume demonstrate the diversity of local welfare provision that lies behind broad national policies and programmes Their focus on local diversity is particularly relevant to understanding the welfare system in China because national state programmes are so often organized by local governments in line with the specifics of their economic and social development At the same time that social and economic development is itself independently creating an array of different conditions that shape non state family business and third sector welfare roles Through chapters that draw on original research in eight provinces the book adopts a local perspective to illustrate and explain some of the transformations that are under way and discuss not only local government initiatives and programmes but also the services and support provided by families informal social networks and community or third sector organizations as well as those delivered by private businesses on a commercial for profit basis This book will be of interest to students and scholars of Chinese society social policy and Chinese studies more widely Beatriz Carrillo is Lecturer in Asian Studies at the University of Technology Sydney Australia Jane Duckett is Professor of Chinese and Comparative Politics at the University of Glasgow UK

Hybrid Modernity Mary Padua, 2020-07-26 This book provides a detailed historical and design analysis of the development of parks and modern landscape architecture in late 20th century China It questions whether the fusion of international influences with the local Chinese design vocabulary in late 20th century China has created a distinctive and novel approach to the design of public parks Hybrid Modernity proposes a new theory for examining the design of public parks built in post Mao China since the reforms and sets the various processes for China s late 20th century socio cultural context Drawing on modernization theory research on China s modernity local and global cultural trends it illustrates through a range of case studies ways hybrid modernity defines a new design genre and language for the spatial forms of parks that emerged in China s secondary cities Featured case studies include the Living Water Park in Chengdu Sichuan province Zhongshan Shipyard Park in Guangdong Province Jinji Lake Landscape Master Plan in Suzhou Jiangsu province and the West Lake Southern Scenic Area Master Plan in Hangzhou Zhejiang province This book argues that these forms represent a new stage in China s history of landscape architecture The work reveals that as a new profession landscape architecture has greatly contributed to China s massive urban experiment This book is an ideal read for students enrolled in landscape architecture architecture fine arts and urban planning programs who are engaged in learning the arts and international design education Routledge Handbook of Chinese Culture and Society Kevin Latham,2020-02-27 The Routledge Handbook of Chinese Culture and Society is an interdisciplinary resource that offers a comprehensive overview of contemporary Chinese social and cultural issues in the twenty first century Bringing together experts in their respective fields this cutting edge survey of the significant phenomena and directions in China today covers a range of issues including the following State privatisation and civil society Family and education Urban and rural life Gender and sexuality and reproduction Popular culture and the media Religion and ethnicity Forming an accessible and fascinating insight into Chinese culture and society this handbook will be invaluable to students and scholars across a range of disciplines including anthropology sociology area studies history politics and cultural and media studies The New Companion to Urban Design Tridib Banerjee,Anastasia Loukaitou-Sideris,2019-06-19 The New Companion to Urban Design continues the assemblage of rich and critical ideas about urban form and design that began with the Companion to Urban Design Routledge 2011 With chapters from a new set of contributors this sequel offers a more comparative perspective representing multiple voices and perspectives from the Global South The essays in this volume are organized in three parts Part I Comparative Urbanism Part II Challenges and Part III Opportunities Each part contains distinct sections designed to address specific themes and includes a list of annotated suggested further readings at the end of each chapter Part I Comparative Urbanism examines different variants of urbanism in the Global North and the Global South produced by a new economic order characterized by the mobility of labor capital information and technology Part II Challenges discusses some of the contemporary challenges that cities of the Global North and the Global South are facing and the possible role of urban design This part discusses spatial claims and conflicts challenges generated by urban informality explosive growth or dramatic shrinkage of the urban settlement gentrification and displacement and mimesis simulacra and lack of authenticity Part III Aspirations discusses some normative goals that urban design interventions aspire to bring about in cities of the Global North and the Global South These include resilience and sustainability health conservation restoration justice intelligence access and mobility and arts and culture The New Companion to Urban Design is primarily intended for scholars and graduate students interested in cities and their built environment It offers an invaluable and up to date guide to current thinking across a range of disciplines including urban design planning urban studies and geography The End of the Village Nick R. Smith,2021-06-08 How China's expansive new era of urbanization threatens to undermine the foundations of rural life Since the beginning of the twenty first century China has vastly expanded its urbanization processes in an effort to reduce the inequalities between urban and rural areas Centered on the mountainous region of Chongqing which serves as an experimental site for the country's new urban development policies The End of the Village analyzes the radical expansion of urbanization and its consequences for China's villagers It reveals a fundamental rewriting of the nation's social contract as villages that once organized rural life and guaranteed rural livelihoods are replaced by an increasingly urbanized landscape dominated by state institutions Throughout this comprehensive study of China's urban rural coordination policy Nick R Smith traces the diminishing autonomy of the country's rural populations and their subordination to larger urban networks and shared administrative structures Outside Chongqing's urban centers competing forces are at work in reshaping the social political and spatial organization of its villages While municipal planners and policy makers seek to extend state power structures beyond the boundaries of the city village leaders and inhabitants try to maintain control over their communities uncertain futures through strategies such as collectivization shareholding real estate development and migration As China seeks to rectify the development crises of previous decades through rapid urban growth such drastic transformations threaten to displace existing ways of life for more than 600 million residents Offering an unprecedented look at the country's contentious shift in urban planning and policy The End of the Village exposes the precarious future of rural life in China and suggests a critical reappraisal of how we think about urbanization

Suzhou in Transition Beibei Tang, Paul Cheung, 2020-11-11

Through the lens of the city of Suzhou this edited volume presents views on the complex interaction between the central state market agents local governments and individuals who have shaped the development of Chinese cities and urban life Featuring a range of disciplinary perspectives contributors to this volume have all undertaken research in one municipality Suzhou to consider how history and culture have evolved during the modernisation of Chinese cities and the transformation of urban space as well as shifting rural urban relations and urban life during the reform era The volume is underscored by a complex dynamic system consisting of three interlocked mechanisms through which the central and local state interact history and culture social and economic life and administration and governance As such chapters analyse responses both from the state and society as driving forces of local development with an interplay between tradition and heritage on the one hand and China's economic and social development on the other Suzhou in Transition will appeal to students and scholars of Chinese and urban studies as well as urban sociology and geography
