accounting highlights the wealth created or destroyed and distributed through the results of labour and capital in transforming external goods and services. Critical accounting contributed with two insights that accounting is not a neutral activity and that accounting practices are shaped by and can in turn shape social reality. Social accounting, especially the subfield of integrated social accounting, has provided a significant precedent for the EVAS by broadening the range of items included in accounting statements to take into account externalities. Finally, the concept of sustainability provided the conceptual and normative framework that guided the selection of variables included in the EVAS. In this manuscript-based dissertation, the EVAS is applied to three case studies. The first looked at the value added of volunteer work and unreimbursed out-of-pocket expenses in ARNOVA, a non-profit scholarly association. The second case study, a construct of 33 sustainable buildings in the USA, shows the costs and benefits of building in sustainable ways versus using traditional building techniques. The third case, based on a master-planned community in Vancouver, includes an economically targeted investment, a non-profit community police centre, a non-profit neighbourhood house, and municipal government agencies, and shows how the EVAS can integrate economic, social, and environmental impacts and help to make investment decisions that support sustainability.
