Social Change and Politics in Punjab, 1898-1910 Shyamala Bhatia, 1987 Different Types of History Bharati Ray, 2009 19th Century Punjabi Society Dr. Manveer Kaur, 2022-12-28 The proposed book intends to focus on the study of the society in the Punjab during the late 19th century through the Census reports of 1868 and 1881 and highlight the early trends of social change in the region as a result of colonial rule An attempt is made for an in depth analysis of the census reports of 1868 and 1881 Though the period of this research is short yet the abundant information provided by the census can give us a clearer picture of the society at that particular point of time It is an exercise to make optimum use of the census to study trends in the society and degree of social change in the Punjab during the late 19th century The Indian Army and the Making of Punjab Rajit K. Mazumder, 2003 A handful of Englishmen controlled the vast British Indian empire for nearly 200 years Throughout this period the colonials who ran the empire viceroys bureaucrats military men police officers constituted a miniscule minority of the Indian population That a few thousand British men dominated so many million Indians for so long via native collaborators feudal princes educated babus peasant recruits has long been known This book looks closely at the Indian army in order to show precisely how collaboration worked to sustain a national empire and a local economy Show More Show Less Shared Histories of Modernity Huri Islamoglu, Peter C. Perdue, 2020-11-29 While pre modernity is often considered to be the time of non European regions and modernity is seen as belonging to the West this book seeks to transcend the temporal bifurcation of that world history into pre modern and modern as well as question its geographical split into two irreconcilable trajectories the European and the non European The book examines shared experiences of modern transformation or modernity in three regions China India and the Ottoman Empire which conventional historiography identifies as non European and therefore by implication outside of modernity or only tangentially linked to it as its victim In other words this work looks at modernity without reference to any idealised criteria of what qualifies as modern or not studying the negotiation and legacies of the early modern period for the modern nation state It focuses on the experience of modernity of non European regions for they play a crucial role in the new phase of transformational patterns may have deeper roots than are generally assumed Rejecting European characterisations of eastern states as Oriental despotisms the volume conceives of the early modern state as a negotiated enterprise one that questions the assumption that state centralisation must be a key metric of success in modernisation Among other topics the book highlights state formations in the three empires legislation pertaining to taxation property police reform the autonomy of legal sphere the interaction of different types of law law s role in governance administrative practice negotiated settlements and courts as sites of negotiation the blurred boundaries between formal law and informal mediation the ability of 18th century Qing and Ottoman imperial governments to accommodate diverse local particularities within an overreaching structure and the pattern of regional development pointing to the accommodative institutional capacity of the Mughal empire Studying the Sikhs

Jakobsh, 2003 This unique book attempts to study Sikh history and culture lauded for its militaristic hyper masculine character by India's colonial rulers from a feminist perspective, an approach that is unprecedented.
