Ottoman Explorations of the Nile Robert Dankoff, Nuran Tezcan, Michael D. Sheridan, 2018-02-15 Before the time of Napoleon the most ambitious effort to explore and map the Nile was undertaken by the Ottomans as attested by two monumental documents an elaborate map with 475 rubrics and a lengthy travel account Both were achieved at about the same time c 1685 and both by the same man Evliya elebi s account of his Nile journeys in the tenth volume of his Book of Travels Seyahatname has been known to the scholarly world since 1938 when that volume was first published The map held in the Vatican Library has been studied since at least 1949 Numerous new critical editions of both the map and the text have been published over the years each expounding upon the last in an attempt to reach a definitive version The Ottoman Explorations of the Nile provides a more accurate translation of the original travel account Furthermore the maps themselves are reproduced in greater detail and vivid color and there are more cross references to the text than in any previous edition This volume gives equal weight and attention to the two parts that make up this extraordinary historical document allowing readers to study the map or the text independently while also using each to elucidate and accentuate the details of the other

The Cambridge World History of Food Kenneth F. Kiple, Kriemhild Coneè Ornelas, 2000 A two volume set which traces the history of food and nutrition from the beginning of human life on earth through the present

Across Cultural Borders Eckhardt Fuchs, Benedikt Stuchtey, 2002 This innovative work offers the first comprehensive transcultural history of historiography The contributors transcend a Eurocentric approach not only in terms of the individual historiographies they assess but also in the methodologies they use for comparative analysis Moving beyond the traditional national focus of historiography the book offers a genuinely comparative consideration of the commonalities and differences in writing history Distinguishing among distinct cultural identities the contributors consider the ways and means of intellectual transfers and assess the strength of local historiographical traditions as they are challenged from outside The essays explore the question of the utility and the limits of conceptions of modernism that apply Western theories of development to non Western cultures Warning against the dominant tendency in recent historiographies of non Western societies to define these predominantly in relation to Western thought the authors show the extent to which indigenous traditions have been overlooked The key question is how the triad of industrialization modernization and the historicization process which was decisive in the development of modern academic historiography also is valid beyond Europe Illustrating just how deeply suffused history writing is with European models the book offers a broad theoretical platform for exploring the value and necessity of a world historiography beyond Eurocentrism

Geographical Knowledge and Imperial Culture in the Early Modern Ottoman Empire Pinar

Emiralioglu, 2016-12-05 Exploring the reasons for a flurry of geographical works in the Ottoman Empire in the sixteenth century this study analyzes how cartographers travellers astrologers historians and naval captains promoted their vision of the world and the centrality of the Ottoman Empire in it It proposes a new case study for the interconnections among empires in the period demonstrating how the Ottoman Empire shared political cultural economic and even religious conceptual frameworks with contemporary and previous world empires World History, Volume 2: from 1400 Ann Kordas,Ryan J.
