Textbook in Psychiatric Epidemiology Ming T. Tsuang,Mauricio Tohen,2003-04-14 The new edition of this critically praised text continues to provide the most comprehensive overview of the concepts methods and research advances in the field It has been revised and enhanced to capitalize on the strengths of the first edition while keeping it up to date in the field of psychiatry This comprehensive publication now includes new chapters on child psychiatry community studies and perinatal studies Journal of Drug Issues ,1984 Contested Ground Peter Davis,1996 Addressing the key issues in the public debate about prescription drugs this book establishes an analytical framework for the development of regulatory policy in this area A range of international experts working at the interface between the social sciences pharmacy medicine and public policy debates contribute to the delineation of these issues The chapters are grouped into three sections The first part focuses on prescription drugs within a social and cultural context The second addresses the pharmaceutical market and its distinctive industrial structure The final section provides a series of international case studies on regulatory innovation Introductory and concluding chapters summarize the issues and draw out themes relating them to the wider policy debate The underlying theme of the book is that therapeutic drugs should not be considered ordinary products These drugs raise important social ethical and policy questions that transcend orthodox analytical approaches and that cut across conventional disciplinary boundaries The object of this book therefore is not just to identify the major issues but also to develop some of the analytical foundations required to advance the course of public policy debate in this area Sociologists public health specialists policy makers legislators consumer groups and those in the pharmaceutical industry will find this book an invaluable resource to that end Anthropology and International Health M. Nichter,1989-07-31 In this book I present a series of eleven essays written between 1978 and 1987 on subjects relevant to the anthropology of health and international health The issues addressed in these essays were investigated during 38 months of fieldwork in rural southwest peninsular India 1974-86 and 15 months of fieldwork in southwest Sri Lanka 1983-84 During various periods of this time I conducted ethnographic fieldwork explored the feasibility of participatory community research facilitated the development of a postgraduate health education training program and served as a consultant to various international health organizations The essays document my ongoing attempts to integrate academic interests in the anthropology of health with applications of anthropology for international health and development The volume is divided into four sections structured around the themes of ethnophysiology illness ethnography pharmaceutical related behavior and health communication Included are studies of fertility and pregnancy Chapters 1 and 2 states of malnutrition and approaches to nutrition education Chapters 5 and 11 diarrheal disease and water boiling behavior Chapters 6 and 10 and lay perceptions of fertility control methods and medicines Chapters 3 and 7 Emerging from these studies is a recognition that perceptions of ethnophysiology and contingent health concerns significantly influence health behavior and the use as well as demand for traditional and modern health resources

Maternal Substance Abuse and the Developing Nervous System Ian S. Zagon, Theodore A. Slotkin, 2012-12-02 The purpose of this book is to review the basic science and clinical findings concerning maternal substance abuse and the developing nervous system of unborn children The short term but vitally significant repercussions of such exposure on biological development with particular reference to the nervous system are discussed The book also discusses the profound influence of maternal substance abuse on behavior in adulthood which is caused by subtle changes in the chemistry or structure of the developing nervous system The subject will not only be of interest to clinical and basic science researchers and teachers in the field of maternal substance abuse but also to individuals in psychology social work cellular and molecular biology embryology neuroscience pharmacology and in clinical professions such as pediatrics neonatology and obstetrics The breadth of topics covered includes alcohol cocaine opiates nicotine benzodiazepines marijuana and the role of stress and hormones Emphasis is placed on the relationship of the effects of substance abuse on neurotrophic factors and receptors Shows how abused substances act directly or indirectly to mimic or influence the action of neurotrophic factors Explains that the transient expression of peptides neurotransmitters and receptors can be markedly disturbed by drugs Demonstrates that animal and tissue culture studies are consistent with clinical observations and important in understanding and ameliorating adverse actions of drugs in early life Health Hazards in Adolescence
