Society Schools And Humanity:

Civil Society, Education and Human Formation Jānis (John) Tāļivaldis Ozoliņš, 2017-04-07 Education has been widely criticised as being too narrowly focused on skills capacities and the transference of knowledge that can be used in the workplace As a result of the dominance of economic rationalism and neo liberalism it has become commodified and marketed to potential customers As a consequence students have become consumers of an educational product and education has become an industry There is deep dissatisfaction with these neo liberal developments What is missing is any conception of education as a key factor in the human formation that will lead students to develop the virtues and values that they will need to not only lead successful lives but also be responsible members of their communities working for the common good and acting to transform them into just societies This volume draws together a number of different perspectives on what is meant by human formation argues that for a much richer conception of education and addresses the lack of attention to human fulfilment It also highlights the importance of philosophy in the articulation of novel ways of conceptualising education providing alternatives to the dominant neo liberal and economic rationalist models The central question with which the book is concerned is a renewed understanding of education as the formation of persons of civil society and the role of philosophy in fostering that renewal In this volume there are a variety of voices from diverse traditions and cultures Both East and West are represented and it might be expected that this would result in a divergence of opinion about the purpose of education However in spite of the diversity there is some significant convergence in thinking about the ways in which education ought to serve the needs of both the individual and their communities What is also particularly useful and what is fresh about the essays presented here is that there is also diversity in the philosophical approaches to the problem This means that the convergence on the importance of human formation as the cornerstone of education does not rely on a privileged philosophical method

Education, Society and Human Nature (RLE Edu K) Anthony O'Hear, 2012-05-04 Intended primarily for education students this book provides an introduction to the philosophy of education that tackles educational problems and at the same time relates them to the mainstream of philosophical analysis Among the educational topics the book discusses are the aims of education the two cultures debate moral education equality as an ideal and academic elitism It examines the limitations of a purely technological education and suggests the shape of a balanced curriculum It critically analyses important educational theses in the work of Rousseau Dewey R S Peters P H Hirst

F R Leavis Ronald Dworkin and G H Bantock among many others and considers the philosophical aspects of relativism the nature of knowledge the basis of moral choice the value of democracy and the status of religious claims Collected Writings on Education: My Pedagogic Creed + The School and Society + The Child and the Curriculum + Moral Principles in Education + Interest and Effort in Education + Democracy and Education John Dewey, 2013-11-10 This carefully crafted ebook Collected Writings on Education My Pedagogic Creed The School and Society The Child and the Curriculum Moral Principles in Education Interest and Effort in Education Democracy and Education contains 6 books in one volume and is formatted for your eReader with a functional and detailed table of contents Dewey's educational theories were presented in My Pedagogic Creed The School and Society The Child and the Curriculum Democracy and Education and Experience and Education Throughout these writings several recurrent themes ring true Dewey continually argues that education and learning are social and interactive processes and thus the school itself is a social institution through which social reform can and should take place In addition he believed that students thrive in an environment where they are allowed to experience and interact with the curriculum and all students should have the opportunity to take part in their own learning A Society Fit for Human Beings Elie Maynard Adams, 1997-10-31 Argues for a humanistic cultural reformation to counter our materialistic values and science dominated intellectual life and shows how this would affect our lives and transform our society A Society Fit for Human Beings contends that there is a profound incoherence in the foundations of modern Western civilization and that we are on a self destructive course With the quest for wealth and power our dominant concern we find ourselves with a flourishing economy and a supreme military force based on science and technology but with our moral civic and religious culture undermined by our way of comprehending the world Our human identity is problematic the wells of meaning that nourish the human spirit are polluted or drying up and the social order is in disarray This situation E M Adams argues requires nothing less than a historic cultural revolution based on a shift in priorities from wealth and power to humanistic values those grounded in selfhood and lived experience that are essential for human growth meaningful lives and a healthy society Such a shift in our governing values would require a restructuring of our intellectual vision of humankind and the world in terms of humanistic categories This book shows the import of such a humanistic cultural revolution for our human identity morality the social order and our major institutions including the family and community education the economy the government the military and religion It outlines how we can work toward such a cultural revolution and develop a constructive postmodern civilization with a society fit for human beings GENDER, SCHOOL AND SOCIETY Dr. Vineeta Rana ,Dr. Neeraja,Dr. Kavita Bansal ,2025-05-12 B Ed Second Year According to the syllabus of Chaudhary Charan Singh University Meerut Writings on Human Rights, Law, and Society in India Harsh Dobhal, 2011 Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies Appropriations for 2000 United States.
