scholars from a wide variety of disciplines on the main issues currently confronting legal professions across the world. It does this through a comparative analysis of the data provided by the reports on 46 countries in its companion volume Lawyers in 21st Century Societies Vol 1 National Reports Hart 2020. Together these volumes build on the seminal collection Lawyers in Society Abel and Lewis 1988a 1988b 1989. The period since 1988 has seen an acceleration and intensification of the global socio economic cultural and political developments that in the 1980s were challenging traditional professional forms. Together with the striking transformation of the world order as a result of the fall of the Soviet bloc neo liberalism globalisation the financialisation of capitalism technological innovations and the changing demography of lawyers these developments underscored the need for a new comparative exploration of the legal professional field. This volume deepens the insights in volume 1 with chapters on legal professions in Africa Latin America the Islamic world emerging economies and former communist regimes. It also addresses theoretical questions including the sociology of lawyers and other professions medicine accountancy state production the rule of law regional bodies large law firms access to justice technology casualisation cause lawyering diversity gender race and masculinity corruption ethics regulation and legal education. Together with volume 1 it will inform and challenge conceptions of the contemporary profession and stimulate and support further research.

Managing Legal Uncertainty Ronen Shamir, 1995. With the New Deal came a dramatic expansion of the American regulatory state. Threatening to undermine many of the traditional roles of the legal system and its actors by establishing a system of administrative law the new emphasis on federal legislation as a form of social and economic planning ushered in an era of legal uncertainty. In this study Ronen Shamir explores how elite corporate lawyers and the American Bar Association clashed with academic legal realists over the constitutionality of the New Deal's legislative program. Applying the insights of Weber and Bourdieu to the sociology of the legal profession Shamir shows that elite members of the bar had a keen self interest in blocking the expansion of administrative law. He dismisses as oversimplified the view that elite lawyers were hired guns who argued that New Deal legislation was unconstitutional solely because of their duty to represent their capitalist clients. Instead Shamir suggests their alignment with the capitalist class was an incidental result of their attempt to articulate their vision of the law as scientific apolitical and judicially oriented and thereby to defend their own position within the law profession. The academic legal realists on the other side of the constitutional debates criticized the rigidity of the traditional judicial process and insisted that flexibility of interpretation and the uncertainty of legal outcomes was at the heart of the legal system. The author argues that many legal realists encouraged by the experimental nature of the New Deal seized an opportunity to improve on their marginal status within the legal profession by moving their discussions from academic circles to the national policy agenda.

Law and Social Change Sharyn L Roach Anleu, 2000-05. For students and academics in sociology criminology legal studies and criminal justice studies this is a comprehensive guide to the sociology of law surveying current theoretical debates and examining socio legal research.
