Studies Voltaire 18th Century Volume 273 74:

The Shaping of Jewish Identity in Nineteenth-Century France Jay R. Berkovitz, 2018-02-05 Focusing on the ideology of regeneration Jay Berkovitz traces the social economic and religious struggles of nineteenth century French Jews Nineteenth century French Jewry was a community struggling to meet the challenges of emancipation and modernity This struggle with its origins in the founding of the French nation constitutes the core of modern Jewish identity With the Revolution of 1789 came the collapse of the social political and philosophical foundations of exclusiveness forcing French society and the Jews to come to terms with the meaning of emancipation Over time the enormous challenge that emancipation posed for traditional Jewish beliefs became evident In the 1830s a more comprehensive ideology of regeneration emerged through the efforts of younger Jewish scholars and intellectuals A response to the social and religious implications of emancipation it was characterized by the demand for the elimination of rituals that violated the French conceptions of civilization and social integration a drive for greater administrative centralization and the quest for inter communal and ethnic unity In its various elements regeneration formed a distinct ideology of emancipation that was designed to mediate Jewish interaction with French society and culture Jay Berkovitz reveals the complexities inherent in the processes of emancipation and modernization focusing on the efforts of French Jewish leaders to come to terms with the social and religious implications of modernity All in all his emphasis on the intellectual history of French Jewry provides a new perspective on a significant chapter of Jewish history

Rousseau and the Politics of Ambiguity Mira Morgenstern, 2010-11-01

Literature Criticism from 1400 to 1800, 2003

Barbary and Enlightenment Ann Thomson, 1987-06-01 This book based on a wide range of eighteenth century works concerns European attitude towards North Africa in the century preceding the French conquest of Algiers in 1830 It studies the radical transformation of perceptions of Barbary during the period essentially by placing them in the context of the different eighteenth century systems of classification of the world We see that uncertainty as to how to classify this region its inhabitants its form of government and social evolution which led to its absence from most contemporary anthropological discussions was resolved in the early nineteenth century with the appearance of what were to become colonial stereotypes

Comparative Criticism: Volume 4, The Language of the Arts E. S. Shaffer, 1982-11-11

Scientific Institutions and Practice in France and Britain, c.1700-c.1870 Maurice Crosland, 2023-05-31
This second collection of studies by Maurice Crosland has as a first theme the differences in the style and organisation of scientific activity in Britain and France in the 18th and early 19th centuries Science was more closely controlled in France notably by the Paris Academy of Sciences and the work of provincial amateurs much less prominent than in Britain The most dramatic change in any branch of science during this period was in chemistry largely through the work of Lavoisier and his colleagues the focus of several articles here and the dominance of this group caused considerable resentment outside France not least by Joseph Priestley The issue of authority in science emerges again within France under the rule of Napoleon in a study of the exceptional power exercised by the great mathematician Laplace both in theoretical science and in academic politics This exploration of organisation and power is complemented by a comparative study of the practice of early physics and chemistry and their different reliance on laboratories This raises the question of whether chemistry provided a model for later experimental work in other sciences both through the construction of pioneering laboratories and in establishing early schools of research
