Fiction's Family Ellen Widmer, 2020-10-26 At the end of the Qing dynasty works of fiction by male authors placed women in new roles Fiction s Family delves into the writings of one literary family from western Zhejiang whose works were emblematic of shifting attitudes toward women The mother Wang Qingdi and the father Zhan Sizeng published their poems during the second half of the nineteenth century Two of their four sons Zhan Xi and Zhan Kai wrote novels that promoted reforms in women s lives This book explores the intergenerational link as well as relations between the sons to find out how the conflicts faced by the parents may have been refigured in the novels of their sons Its central question is about the brothers reformist attitudes Were they based on the pronouncements of political leaders Were they the result of trends in Shanghai publishing Or did they derive from Wang Qingdi s disappointment in her companionate marriage as manifested in her poems By placing one family at the center of this study Ellen Widmer illuminates the diachronic bridge between the late Qing and the period just before it the synchronic interplay of genres during the brothers lifetimes and the interaction of Shanghai publishing with regions outside Shanghai

Toward an Embodied Decolonial Pneumatology Toar Banua Hutagalung, 2024-04-17 Everyone wants to be and to feel at home Yet being homely requires a space or place where one can admit feeling familiar with and the surroundings can accept the person What does it mean then to be in a liminal space where one is considered not this or not that In Toward an Embodied Decolonial Pneumatology Dishoming Space Toar Banua Hutagalung tries to analyze this existential question through a postcolonial decolonial approach One thing that is responsible for such liminal spaces is colonialism itself Colonialism through its multiple elements such as biopolitics racism and sexuality became a formation that looks like a home but is a site of oppression Nevertheless the author argues that liminality is not just a site of rejection By addressing a case from the formation of Indonesian nationality as well as taking a closer hermeneutical look at Indonesian literature the author contends that liminality conveys decolonial acts Integrating an interdisciplinary approach from postcolonial decolonial studies theological anthropology and pneumatology the author asserts that the Holy Spirit always dwells and moves continuously in liminal spaces It pulsates within the capillaries of every person to fight against colonial legacies With such a decolonial pulse from the presence of the Spirit one can re member and recreate what home means
