Life and Conscience Miguel Ochoa,2013-01-08 Life on Earth appears to be integrated by hierarchical levels from the most humble molecule of DNA which is a collection of atoms to multicellular organisms including Man who are made up of collections of cells Each one of these levels appears animated by a conscience of its own Is there any evidence of a still higher level of conscience belonging to human communities and therefore supra human in kind The author believes that this is so and that cultural manifestations mostly language and scripture exert in these communities the same role that genes in biological organisms in other words they are carriers of information Cultural specifications he affirms could be used to predict societal dynamics including the fate of economic and political systems The works include examples of the evolution of cultural traits in human communities as well as parallel evolutionary studies of human groups a process that could be compared to evolutionary radiation among biological species

The Creative Conscience as Human Destiny Eduard Hugo Strauch,2004 The Creative Conscience as Human Destiny explains how human nature derived from our biogenetic evolution Whereas human ingenuity and self realization replicate nature's creativity its morphogenesis human conscience epitomizes the integration of organic life its symbiosis These mutual processes became incarnate as humanity's creative conscience Similarly the co evolution of man and woman has enabled us to create cultures and civilization From our intimation of a Supreme Being in nature human beings have also evolved a supraconscience By acknowledging the wisdom of nature we have a philosophy of life for the future

This Thing Called Reason Benjamin K. Akih,2025-05-06 This book offers a conceptual analysis of reason proposing a plausible theory to resolve persistent vagueness in the historical use of the concept The proposed theory leads to the view that reason is fundamentally subjective and dependent on non inferential matters of faith Despite the inherent subjectivity we can arrive at a consensus in reasoning exercises because we all participate in a universal minimum religion that grounds all reasoning True atheism is therefore impossible This analysis bears on debates about the relation between faith and reason as well as the relation between ethics based on reason and ethics based on sentiments The book further shows that this new and original view of religiously constrained reason ought to equally inform our thinking about applied ethics such as politics law and economics The Expansion of Europe 1642-1789 Wilbur Abbott, 2017-12-20 WHEN in the last months of 1648 was signed the great peace which brought to an end the Thirty Years War and with it the mediaeval polity which it finally destroyed as the army of diplomats whose work it was dispersed to their respective governments the awe inspiring mass of documents which formed the fruit of their long labors might have led men to believe that Europe would hasten to enjoy the peace which she so needed and which her people for the most part so greatly desired But whatever hopes of quiet were entertained were already far on the way to disappointment for the Europe to which the diplomats returned was even then altered or altering before their eyes and already shaping itself for new conflict Scarcely a state of any consequence prepared to recruit its resources by the arts of peace scarcely a royal house but faced a crisis in its fortunes scarcely a people but was stirring in unrest or already engaged in revolution So far from ushering in a period of peaceful progress the Westphalian treaties became the starting point for new and bloody rivalries Century Readings in Ancient Classical and Modern European Literature John William Cunliffe, Grant Showerman, 1925 The Play of Conscience in Shakespeare's England Jade Standing, 2023-12-29 Having a conscience distinguishes humans from the most advanced AI systems Acting in good conscience consulting one's conscience and being conscience wracked are all aspects of human intelligence that involve reckoning deriving general laws from particular inputs and vice versa and judgement contemplating the relationship of the reckoning system to the world While AI developers have mastered reckoning they are still working towards the creation of judgement This book sheds light on the reckoning and judgement of conscience by demonstrating how these concepts are explored in Everyman Doctor Faustus The Merchant of Venice and Hamlet Academic student or general interest readers discover the complexity and multiplicity of the early modern concept of conscience which is informed by the scholastic intellectual tradition juridical procedures of the court of Chancery the practical advice of Protestant casuistry and Reformation theology The aims are to examine the rubrics for thinking through regulating and judging actions that define the various consciences of Shakespeare's day to use these rubrics to interpret questions of truth and action in early modern plays and to offer insights into what it is about conscience that developers want to grasp to eliminate the difference between human and non human intelligences and achieve true AI
