Cummins,2013-11-07 When Homo sapiens sapiens met Canis lupus lupus millennia ago the result was Canis lupus familiaris the domestic dog Since that fateful encounter the dog has become arguably humankind s greatest creation The domestic dog is the most widely distributed species other than ourselves in the world being found virtually wherever people live and is also the most diversified of species with literally hundreds of recognized breeds While we have shaped the dog it too has helped shape human history in innumerable ways Our Debt to the Dog is a critical historical and cross cultural examination through the use of case studies of this most improbable 15 000 year relationship and an exploration of how this relationship shaped the history of the world It is also very much an apology to the dog because over the course of the partnership horrific acts were perpetrated against it intentionally and otherwise Our Debt to the Dog enriches our understanding of the dog and extends our appreciation for the profound complexity of past and present human canine relationships and the dog s contributions to our lives and our world Picnic Crumbs Anabel Loyd,2014-01-01 A collection of stories from all sorts of people over several centuries

Whitaker's Book List ,1989 Up and Down Stairs Jeremy Musson,2009-11-12 Country houses were reliant on an intricate hierarchy of servants each of whom provided an essential skill Up and Down Stairs brings to life this hierarchy and shows how large numbers of people lived together under strict segregation and how sometimes this segregation was broken as with the famous marriage of a squire to his dairymaid at Uppark Jeremy Musson captures the voices of the servants who ran these vast houses and made them work From unpublished memoirs to letters wages newspaper articles he pieces together their daily lives from the Middle Ages through to the twentieth century The story of domestic servants is inseparable from the story of the country house as an icon of power civilisation and luxury This is particularly true with the great estates such as Chatsworth Hatfield Burghley and Wilton Jeremy Musson looks at how these grand houses were for centuries admired and imitated around the world Forthcoming Books Rose Army,1994-02

Tales of South Africa (Serapis Classics) H. A. Bryden, 2017-10-19 It was not until my second season's hunting with Koenraad du Plessis that I heard of

Verloren Vlei a place I am never likely to forget Du Plessis was a Transvaal Boer descended as his name implies from that good Huguenot stock which after the revocation of the Edict of Nantes made its way to the Cape to replenish the Dutch settlers The French language quickly died out in South Africa mainly from a stern repression yet here and there all over that vast land you may see at this day in the strong and stubborn Boer breed plain traces of the French admixture Du Plessis bore about him very certain indications of his ancestry He was shortish for a Boer very dark of complexion keen eyed merry alert vigorous and active as a cat Nineteen years ago the north and east of the Transvaal and the countries just across the border were wild and little known lands still teeming with game I was wandering through this region hunting and exploring The gold fever had recently broken out and as I understood something of mining and geology I put in a good deal of prospecting as well It was a vagrant delightful existence and I thoroughly enjoyed it
