Talking About Cultural Diversity in Your Church Michael V. Angrosino, 2001-09-24 In the Great Commission Jesus told his followers to go and make disciples of all nations But today you don't need to be a missionary in another country to come across different cultures In your neighborhood school workplace and shopping area you probably run across many people with backgrounds vastly different from your own To have an effective ministry in the U S today outside or inside the church Christians need to be aware of how people's culture affects the ways they think and live Talking about Cultural Diversity in Your Church gives classes workshops or small groups the opportunity to discuss issues of multiculturalism Presenting what culture means in the first part of the book shows how understanding and misunderstandings of culture affect American society This beginning section encourages readers to be aware of their own cultural assumptions and how these assumptions color relations with others It then highlights special skills for communicating between cultures and highlights the special challenges for religion in a pluralistic society But the heart of the book is eleven case studies with discussion questions These concrete cases allow participants to see about how their understandings of culture have real world implications And the discussion questions let participants talk in meaningful ways about these difficult issues If you want a useful discussion about multiculturalism in your congregation you should take a look at Talking about Cultural Diversity in Your Church Visit the author's web page

The Power of Stories Rev. Jacqueline J. Lewis, 2010-09-01 Most congregational leaders find it difficult to resist the dominant cultural expectation that different cultural and ethnic groups should stick to themselves especially when it comes to church. But some congregational leaders have learned the secrets of breaking out of these expectations to bring together communities of faith that model God's radical inclusiveness. What makes the difference? Jacqui Lewis explains that it resides in the stories these leaders tell stories about who they themselves are and what the communities they lead are about. These leaders are able to embrace the multiple complex stories within these diverse communities hearing in the many voices a particular echo of the living voice of the gospel.
