Social Work with Rural Peoples (Third Edition) Ken

Collier, 2006-07-20 The gist of Collier's genuinely radical book is that for the rural social worker to be effective she must be able to identify with the struggles of the people she is trying to help that trying to maintain professional objective distance will merely ensure that the social worker becomes part of the problem rather than part of the solution For the social worker in a smaller community Whose side are you on is the most important question to be answered before any effective work can be done It is an indictment of the slow pace of progress against the societal problems facing rural populations that a third edition of Social Work With Rural Peoples is necessary Rural, Regional and Remote Social Work Amanda Howard, Meaghan Katrak, Tamara Blakemore, Phillip Pallas, 2016-05-26 This book gives voice to the direct practice experience of social workers working in rural and remote contexts using Australia as the primary case study The authors undertake a qualitative research project conducting in depth interviews to examine social work theory and practice against the reality of rural and remote contexts Practice examples provide the reader with an insight into the diverse and complex nature of social work in rural and remote Australia and the role of contemporary social work Through placing rural and remote social work in its historical theoretical and geographical contexts this work explores a range of considerations These include isolation ethical dilemmas when working with small and closely linked communities climate disaster relief and the environment community identity and culture working with indigenous communities in remote contexts and social work education Based on direct practice research this book challenges existing theories of practice and reframes those to reflect the reality of practice in rural and remote communities As social work must continue to critically reflect on its role within an ever changing and individualistic society lessons from rural and remote settings around engagement sense of place and skillful innovative practice have never been more relevant
