The Projective Use of Mother-and-child Drawings Jacquelyn Gillespie, 1994. First Published in 1995. Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis, an information company. Reflective Network Therapy In The Preschool Classroom Gilbert Kliman, 2011-09-16. Reflective Network Therapy describes a remarkably effective school-based treatment method that harnesses small social networks for the good of seriously emotionally disturbed preschoolers or those with autism spectrum disorders. The book provides an in-depth explanation of the method including the work of parents, peers, teachers, and mental health therapists. The RNT method has a substantial evidence base with about the same number of treated children and a larger number of comparison and control cases as the published IQ results of the most widely used school-based method. It has been used in many real-life environments and is well tested for feasibility, replicability, IQ effects, and children's global mental health results. The RNT method does not separate the child from peers by pairing him with an aide but is peer, teacher, and parent inclusive. The cost benefits and human benefits are extraordinary. Integrating Hypnosis with Psychotherapy Daniel L. Araoz, 2012-05-07. Psychotherapy is a scientifically proven form of treatment, and neuroscience has justified hypnosis as a convenient method to train our minds to change our brains. However, hypnosis remains widely misunderstood. This volume clears up many misconceptions surrounding the practice by exploring it as a part of psychodynamic psychotherapy. In this context, hypnosis involves the activation of the patient's fantasy to create a new inner reality of the self so that this reality can take the place of the old one for personal enrichment of the individual. Presenting new evidence from neuroscience and the ancient wisdom of Buddhism and detailing many short case studies, this work reveals the essence of hypnosis and demonstrates the benefits of this often misunderstood mind activity. On the Way to Self Johanna Krout Tabin, 1985.
