Imaginations of Time in Lydgate and Hoccleve's Verse Karen Elaine Smyth,2016-05-13 Using empirical research to explore medieval writers imaginings of time this study presents a new morphology by which to study narratives of time in fifteenth century literary culture focusing on poems of John Lydgate and Thomas Hoccleve Karen Smyth begins with an overview of medieval time keeping devices and considers collective and individual attitudes and perceptions of time She then examines a range of Middle English authors appropriations and innovations in relation to such perceptions identifying competitions of tradition and innovation allowing for an interrogation of commonly accepted medieval theories of time An empirically based morphology emerges and is used to examine narratives of time in Lydgate and Hoccleve s work Through a series of close readings of selected short poems and Lydgate s Troy Book Fall of Princes and Siege of Thebes and of Hoccleve s Regiments of Princes and Series Karen Smyth looks at expressions of time and examples of the authors negotiation of time consciousness illustrating how both poets manipulate a range of cultural narratives of time in order to create multiple and sometimes competing temporalities within a single poem Smyth simultaneously draws attention to Lydgate s and Hoccleve s underestimated artistic skills and lays out a means to re evaluate medieval cultural attitudes towards time Food,

Individual in Renaissance Italy Douglas Biow,2015-02-04 In recent decades scholars have vigorously revised Jacob

Burckhardt's notion that the free untrammelled and essentially modern Western individual emerged in Renaissance Italy. Douglas Biow does not deny the strong cultural and historical constraints that placed limits on identity formation in the early modern period. Still as he contends in this witty reflective and generously illustrated book the category of the individual was important and highly complex for a variety of men in this particular time and place for both those who belonged to the elite and those who aspired to be part of it. Biow explores the individual in light of early modern Italy's new patronage systems, educational programs and work opportunities in the context of an increased investment in professionalization, the changing status of artisans and artists and shifting attitudes about the ideology of work, fashion and etiquette. He turns his attention to figures familiar: Benvenuto Cellini, Baldassare Castiglione, Niccol Machiavelli, Jacopo Tintoretto, Giorgio Vasari and somewhat less so the surgeon/physician Leonardo Fioravanti, the metallurgist Vannoccio Biringuccio. One could excel as an individual, he demonstrates, by possessing an indefinable nescio quid, by acquiring, theorizing and putting into practice a distinct body of professional knowledge, or by displaying the exclusively male adornment of impressively designed facial hair. Focusing on these and other matters, he reveals how we significantly impoverish our understanding of the past if we dismiss the notion of the individual from our narratives of the Italian and the broader European Renaissance.

The Limits of Pilgrimage Place
T.K. Rousseau, 2021-07-28

Through case studies of three pilgrimage sites related to the Virgin Mary, this book explores how pilgrimage places in today's globalized world do not exist as contained spaces but have porous boundaries both physically and conceptually. Taking an interdisciplinary approach that draws on art history and heritage studies, the book considers the cathedral of Chartres, France; Medjugorje in Bosnia and Herzegovina; and the House of Mary near Ephesus, Turkey. In all three sites, the place of pilgrimage accommodates multiple different purposes and groups of people intermingling devotional and commercial aspects, different memory narratives and heterogeneous audiences. By mapping these porous boundaries, the book calls into question how we define pilgrimage place and shows how pilgrimage sites are not set apart from the everyday world but intimately connected with wider cultural, political and material dynamics. This study will be relevant to scholars engaging with issues of pilgrimage, cultural heritage and art across religious studies, art history, anthropology and sociology.
