Charles Edward Turner,2018-01-08 Excerpt from Studies in Russian Literature To the difficulties inseparably attached to all literary criticism must in the present case be added the circumstance that the writers here reviewed belong to a nation whose history and civilization differ in many essential points from the history and civilization of Western Europe I dare not utter myself that in all cases I have succeeded in understanding aright the form and spirit of mind which have given to the Russian people a literature of their own I can only trust that an honest desire to comprehend and appreciate the character and aims of a people among whom I have lived for many years and a warm sympathy with the progress they have made and despite recent ominous events are still making may have proved sufficient safeguards against glaring errors and that justice has been done in these pages to the more illustrious writers and thinkers of modern Russia About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
