Comparison and Harmonisation of Denominator Data for Primary Health Care Research in Countries of the European Community Martin Schlaud,1999 Used extensively in North America and Europe seminal practice networks also referred to as practice research networks recruit office based physicians to monitor defined events among their patients such as influenza mumps and asthma attacks at regional county and even national levels After adequate analysis these data indicate spatial and temporal trends in event frequencies comparability of national results is however limited partly due to the different national health systems influencing the demand of medical care More importantly the lack of comparable data on the population from which the cases arise denominator data obstructs the comparison of data from primary care research between different regions or countries Advances in Cancer Research ,1955-01-01 Advances in Cancer Research

Journal of the National Cancer Institute ,2006 Current Approaches to Occupational Health A. Ward Gardner,2013-10-22 Current Approaches to Occupational Health deals with problems and progress in relation to occupational health This book is organized into 21 chapters written by different contributors The occupational health issues covered by these chapters include ethical problems in occupational medicine the role of legislation regulation and enforcement in occupational health the monitoring of occupational risks for cancer and the identification and intervention for problem drinkers at work This book will be of interest to occupational health students and practitioners and to other medical professionals Studies on Medical and Population Subjects ,1947 Public Health Service Publication ,1962

Clinical Medicine for Healthcare and Sustainability Teen-Hang Meen,Yusuke Matsumoto,Kuan-Han Lee,2021-01-21 When the domestic government the private sector and people in various professional fields talk about long term care issues they all focus on creating a warm and home like care institution However we actively emphasize the importance of community based long term care For aging in place the development of domestic non institutional care is still in its infancy and some long term care needs must still be met through institutional care and the facilitation of the extension or outreach of community based care and respite service platforms for the development of community based long term care still rely on institutional care The history of the development of long term care in Taiwan is much shorter than that of Japan Europe the United States and Canada Despite years of hard work and rapid development the long term care resources needed to establish a complete system in terms of universalization fairness accessibility and selectivity are not available In the future based on the soundness of institutional care it hoped that outreach will move toward the goals of community care and aging in place We hope the studies in this Special Issue will help further develop clinical medicine for healthcare and sustainability Cancer Research in Hispanic Populations in the United States ,1995
