Brambilla,Andrea Marini,2013-11-12 This book provides a comprehensive review of new developments in the study of language processing and related neural networks in schizophrenia by addressing the complex link between psychopathology language and evolution at different levels of analysis Psychopathological symptoms in schizophrenia are mainly characterized by thought and language disorders which are strictly intertwined In particular language is the distinctive dimension of human beings and is ontologically related to brain development Although normal at the levels of segmental phonology and morphological organization the speech of patients suffering from schizophrenia is often characterized by flattened intonation and word finding difficulties Furthermore research suggests that the superior temporal gyrus and specific prefrontal areas which support language in humans are altered in people with schizophrenia Brambilla and Marini bring together international contributors to explore the link between brain evolution and the psychopathological features of schizophrenia with a focus on language and its neural underpinnings Divided into three sections the book covers brain evolution and language phylogenesis brain abnormalities in schizophrenia psychopathology and schizophrenia This theoretical approach will appeal to professionals including clinical psychologists cognitive neuroscientists neuropsychiatrists neuropsychologists neurolinguists and researchers considering the links between brain evolution language and psychopathology in schizophrenia

Modeling and Using Context Anind Dey,2005-06-24 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 5th International and Interdisciplinary Conference on Modeling and Using Context CONTEXT 2005 held in Paris France in July 2005 The 42 revised full papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from a total of 120 submissions The papers presented deal with the interdisciplinary topic of modeling and using context from various points of view ranging through cognitive science formal logic artificial intelligence computational intelligence philosophical and psychological aspects and information processing Highly general philosophical and theoretical issues are complemented by specific applications in various fields Did Westward Subduction Cause Cretaceous-Tertiary Orogeny in the North American Cordillera? Robert S. Hildebrand,2009-01-01 Within the Sonora segment to the south break off magmatism was also prevalent Both the Canadian and Sonoran segments have abundant porphyry copper mineralization temporally and spatially associated with the break off magmas which suggests a genetic link between slab failure and porphyry copper mineralization. By 53 Ma eastwardly dipping subduction of Pacific Ocean crust was generating arc magmatism on the amalgamated Cordilleran collision zone in both the Canadian and Sonoran segments. Oceanic schists such as the Orocopia Pelona Ranges were formed in the ocean basin west of Rubia and accreted during initiation of the new easterly dipping subduction zone. A major transform fault called the Phoenix fault connects the Sevier fold thrust belt at the California Nevada border with that in eastern Mexico and separates the Great Basin and Sonoran segments. It juxtaposes the Sierra Mojave Sonora block alongside the Transition Zone of the Colorado Plateau. Cordilleran events affected the subsequent development of western North America. For example the structural Basin and Range Province appears to coincide with the region where exotic allochthons sit atop North American crust in both the Great Basin and Sonoran segments. Also within the triangular Columbia embayment large segments of Rubia appear to have escaped laterally during the Cordilleran orogeny to create a lithospheric hole that was later filled by basalt of the Columbia River and Modoc plateaux.
