Stuff It The Art Of Creating Filled Food:

Stuff It! Tamara Milstein, 1998 Narratives in the Making Mary Beattie, 2003-01-01 At Corktown Community High School in Toronto importance is placed on the education of the whole person An alternative secondary school it emphasizes the development of self knowledge and responsiveness to others creative and critical thought and connectedness through the self the school community and society Narratives in the Making is based on a research project carried out at the school as part of a large scale national research study The Exemplary Schools Project Corktown a pseudonym was selected as a participant in this study because of its unusually high rate of student retention student engagement achievement and success Using narrative accounts of classroom and school practices profiles of teachers and students and language that is accessible to both practitioners and academics Mary Beattie provides insights and explanations of the meaning of success as it is understood by Corktown teachers students parents alumni and school administrators She shows how the whole person concept is incorporated into the school environment and why relationships are at the heart of teaching and learning

Making Sense of Taste Carolyn Korsmeyer, 2014-01-17 Taste perhaps the most intimate of the five senses has traditionally been considered beneath the concern of philosophy too bound to the body too personal and idiosyncratic Yet in addition to providing physical pleasure eating and drinking bear symbolic and aesthetic value in human experience and they continually inspire writers and artists In Making Sense of Taste Carolyn Korsmeyer explains how taste came to occupy so low a place in the hierarchy of senses and why it is deserving of greater philosophical respect and attention Korsmeyer begins with the Greek thinkers who classified taste as an inferior bodily sense she then traces the parallels between notions of aesthetic and gustatory taste that were explored in the formation of modern aesthetic theories She presents scientific views of how taste actually works and identifies multiple components of taste experiences Turning to taste's objects food and drink she looks at the different meanings they convey in art and literature as well as in ordinary human life and proposes an approach to the aesthetic value of taste that recognizes the representational and expressive roles of food Korsmeyer's consideration of art encompasses works that employ food in contexts sacred and profane that seek to whet the appetite and to keep it at bay her selection of literary vignettes ranges from narratives of macabre devouring to stories of communities forged by shared eating

Art, Farming and Food for the Future Barbara L. Benish, Nathalie Blanc, 2022-09-30 This book explores the impact of artistic experiments in inspiring people to turn away from current food consumerism and take an active role in preserving sustaining and protecting the environment As artists are expanding their practice into social justice and community concerns erasing traditional forms of expression and integrating others the culture around food and its production has been added to a new vocabulary of experiential art The authors measure the impact of such experiments on local food consumption and production focusing on education and youth both in the surrounding community and culture at large They suggest how these projects can be up scaled to further encourage sustainable solutions for our environment and communities The book explores the reflections and motivations of case study practitioners in urban and rural areas and through interviews engages with artists who are pioneering a new trend to create hubs of activity away from traditional art spaces in cities to follow a non hierarchal practice that is de centralized and communally based This book will be of great interest to academic readers concerned with issues related to environmental aesthetics eco design eco criticism culture heritage memory and identity and those interested in the current debates on the place of aesthetics and culture in sustainability
