The Constitution of Singapore Kevin YL Tan, 2015-04-30 Singapore's Constitution was hastily cobbled together after her secession from the Federation of Malaysia in 1965. In the subsequent 50 years the Constitution has been amended many times to evolve a Constitution like no other in the world. Outwardly Singapore has a Westminster type constitutional democracy with an elected legislature, fundamental liberties and safeguards to ensure the independence of the judiciary. On closer inspection the Constitution displays many innovative and unusual characteristics. Most notable among them are the various types of Members of Parliament that have been introduced since the mid 1980s, the office of the Elected President and the fact that there is no constitutional right to property. This volume seeks to explain the nature and context of these constitutional innovations in the context of a pluralistic multi ethnic state obsessed with public order and security. The volatile racial mix of Singapore with its majority Chinese population nestled in a largely Malay Islamic world compels the state to search for ethnic management solutions through the Constitution to guarantee to the Malays and other ethnic minorities their status in the polity. In addition it examines how the concept of the rule of law is perceived by the strong centrist state governed by a political party that has been in power since 1959 and continues to hold almost hegemonic power.

Constitutional Law in Hong Kong Anton Cooray, 2022-10-20 Derived from the renowned multi volume International Encyclopaedia of Laws, this very useful analysis of constitutional law in Hong Kong provides essential information on the country's sources of constitutional law, its form of government and its administrative structure. Lawyers who handle transnational matters will appreciate the clarifications of particular terminology and its application. Throughout the book the treatment emphasizes the specific points at which constitutional law affects the interpretation of legal rules and procedure. Thorough coverage by a local expert fully describes the political system, the historical background, the role of treaties, legislation, jurisprudence and administrative regulations. The discussion of the form and structure of government outlines its legal status, the jurisdiction and workings of the central state organs, the subdivisions of the state, its decentralized authorities and concepts of citizenship. Special issues include the legal position of aliens, foreign relations, taxing and spending powers, emergency laws, the power of the military and the constitutional relationship between church and state. Details are presented in such a way that readers who are unfamiliar with specific terms and concepts in varying contexts will fully grasp their meaning and significance. Its succinct yet scholarly nature, as well as the practical quality of the information it provides, make this book a valuable time saving tool for both practising and academic jurists. Lawyers representing parties with interests in Hong Kong will welcome this guide and academics and researchers will appreciate its value in the study of comparative constitutional law.

Land Rights and Expropriation in Ethiopia Daniel W. Ambaye,2015-02-13 This thesis provides a new approach to the Ethiopian Land Law debate The basic argument made in this thesis is that even if the Ethiopian Constitution provides and guarantees common ownership of land together with the state to the people this right has not been fully realized whether in terms of land accessibility enjoyability and payment of fair compensation in the event of expropriation Expropriation is an inherent power of the state to acquire land for public purpose activities It is an important development tool in a country such as Ethiopia where expropriation remains the only method to acquire land Furthermore the two preconditions of payment of fair compensation and existence of public purpose justifications are not strictly followed in Ethiopia The state remains the sole beneficiary of the process by capturing the full profit of land value while paying inadequate compensation to those who cede their land by expropriation Secondly the broader public purpose power of the state in expropriating the land for unlimited activities puts the property owners under imminent risk of expropriation Land Law and Disputes in Asia

China's Modernization I Georg Peter, Reuß-Markus Krauß, 2015-09-09 The idea of only one way leading to a modern society seems to be hardly tenable. But even if we agree to this, our theories and terms describing modernization are gained on our own Western history. So social science has to reconsider its basic terms to describe China's modernization and maybe even the understanding of modernization itself. The first of two volumes on China's modernization collects articles by leading Chinese and Western scientists focusing on the main conflicts and differences this process involves. In a first section, Changing China: Dealing with Diversity, Björn Alperman analyses the terms Class, Citizenship, and Individualization in China's Modernization. Andrew Kipnis analyses the Chinese Nation Building as 'Instead of and Before Globalization' while John R. Gibbins examines Principles for Cosmopolitan Societies: Values for Cosmopolitan Places On Modernization, Law, Business, and Economy in China. The second section deals with Modernizing Chinese Law: The Protection of Private Property in China by Sanzhu Zhu, Chinese Organizations as Groups of People Towards a Chinese Business Administration by Peter J. Peverelli, and Income Gaps in Economic Development: Differences among Regions, Occupational Groups, and Ethnic Groups by Ma Rong. The last section, Thinking Differentiations: Chinese Origin and the Western Culture, concentrates on the role of religion with articles by Richard Madsen, Christianity and Hybrid Modernity in China, and Thorsten Botz-Bornstein, Confucianism, Puritanism, and the Transcendental: China and America. Jeffrey N. Wasserstrom argues that Nathan Sharansky's test for free nations should take regional variations into account in China and the 'Town Square Test'. In Metaphor, Poetry, and Cultural Implicature, Ying Zhang examines if the Western understanding of metaphor can be transferred to Chinese language and culture. The additional rubric On Contemporary Philosophy involves three articles about the question 'Can Science Change our Notion of Existence?' by Jody Azzouni, The Epistemological Significance of Practices by Alan Millar, and On Cappelen and Hawthorne's Relativism and Monadic Truth by J. Adam Carter. Content and abstracts: www.protosociology.de

Law and Class in America Paul Carrington, Trina Jones, 2006-06 In Law and Class in America, a group of leading legal scholars reflect on the state of the law from the end of the Cold War to the present, grappling with a central question posed to them by Paul D. Carrington and Trina Jones: have recent legal reforms exacerbated class differences in America? In a substantive introduction, Carrington and Jones assert that legal changes from the late 20th century onward have been increasingly elitist and unconcerned with the lives of poor people having little access to the legal system. Contributors use this position as a springboard to review developments in their own particular fields and to assess whether or not legal decisions and processes have contributed to a widening gap between privileged and unprivileged people in this country From antitrust and bankruptcy to tax and election law the essays in this unique volume invite readers to reflect thoughtfully on socio economic justice in the new century and suggest that a lack of progressive reform in all areas of law may herald a form of undiagnosed class dominance reminiscent of America s Gilded Age Contributors Margaret A Berger M Gregg Bloche David L Callies Paul D Carrington Paul Y K Castle Lance Compa James D Cox Paula A Franzese Marc Galanter Julius G Getman Lawrence O Gostin Joel F Handler Trina Jones Thomas E Kauper Sanford Levinson John Linehan Joseph D McNamara Burt Neuborne Jeffrey O Connell Judith Resnik Richard L Schmalbeck Danielle Sarah Seiden Richard E Speidel Gerald Torres David M Trubek Elizabeth Warren and Lawrence A Zelenak
