The Police Communications System:

The Police Communications System Vivian Anderson Leonard, 1970 Communication Systems Guide Winston W. Scott, 1979 Police Telecommunication Systems IIT Research Institute, 1971 Task Force Report: The Police United States. President, 1967 Report on Police United States. National Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals, 1973 Symbolic Communication Peter K. Manning, 1988

This first major empirical work on the semiotics of social action goes a long way toward answering substantive theoretical and pragmatic questions on how codes actually operate in a specific social setting. It underscores the important yet often ignored role of the police as sign or information workers. Calls to the police represent a rich variety of human troubles, concerns, and needs by focusing on how police handle calls from the public, how they ascertain what a call means, and what should be done with it, and how this is transformed through subsystems within the organization. Peter Manning provides a novel way of looking at organizational communication. Symbolic Communication provides examples of how members of an organization interpret their environment in this instance, how the meaning of a call to the police is transformed as it moves across the boundaries of the organization, a transformation that involves a series of codings and recodings ensuring a continuous loose linkage of organization and environment. Manning shows why the police act in ways that differ from the way citizens and politicians would have them act, revealing the uncertainties that surround a police agency's responsiveness. And he points out how today's computer technologies constrain the coding process, limiting in particular the effectiveness of the 911 systems used in most of our major cities. Peter K. Manning is a Professor of Psychiatry and of Sociology at Michigan State University and a member of the Centre for Socio-Legal Studies at Oxford. Symbolic Communication brings to fruition themes and ideas introduced in his previous books, Police Work and The Narc's Game. Symbolic Communication is included in the Organization Studies series edited by John van Maanen.

Document Retrieval Index, 1972 Police United States. National Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals, 1973

This report provides suggestions for overall improvement in delivery of police services for greater protection against crime. The National Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals considers the patrolman the primary force in reducing and preventing crime and thus directs its report recommendations toward increasing police effectiveness. Suggestions for improvements in police functions are presented in the areas of community planning and organization, technology, and support services, fiscal management, and coordination with other criminal justice agencies. These proposals appear in the form of more than 120 specific standards and recommendations that spell out where, why, and how these improvements can and should be made in the police segment of the criminal justice system. Report on Police is a reference work for the practitioner, patrolman, police chief, as well as for the interested layman. Before implementing any of the changes advocated, police departments are advised to detail the legal limits of police authority and develop guidelines for the exercise of that authority. In order to improve cooperation between the police and the community, it is suggested that police agencies establish a specialized unit for maintaining communication with citizens Each police department should encourage and participate in neighborhood security programs and establish procedures to facilitate processing of complaints Suggestions for more effective utilization of manpower include continued consolidation stricter personnel requirements increased employee benefits and the employment of more women minorities and civilians in police work California. Court of Appeal (2nd Appellate District). Records and Briefs California (State)., A National Strategy to Reduce Crime United States. National Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals, 1973 This report of the National Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals presents national criminal justice standards and goals for crime reduction and prevention at the State and local levels The Commission proposes as a goal for America a 50 percent reduction in high fear crimes by 1983 It further proposes that crime reduction efforts focus on five crimes homicide reduced by at least 25 percent by 1983 forcible rape reduced by at least 25 percent by 1983 aggravated assault reduced by at least 25 percent by 1983 robbery reduced by at least 50 percent by 1983 and burglary reduced by at least 50 percent by 1983 The Commission proposes four areas for priority action in reducing the five target crimes juvenile delinquency delivery of social services prompt determination of guilt or innocence and citizen action There are seven areas where the Commission proposes recommendations In the area of criminal justice it proposes broad reforms and improvements at the State and local levels In focusing on community crime prevention the Commission emphasizes communitywide crime prevention efforts at the State and local levels The Commission also proposes that the delivery of police services be greatly improved at the municipal level and that the courts undergo a major restructuring and streamlining of procedures and practices in the processing of criminal cases at the State and local levels Other proposals are in the broad areas of corrections and criminal code reform and revision Regarding handguns in American society the Commission proposes nationwide action at the State level to eliminate the dangers posed by widespread possession of handguns
