Europe's New Development Aid Balázs Szent-Iványi, Simon Lightfoot, 2015-04-17 This book examines the international development policies of five East Central European new EU member states the Czech Republic Hungary Poland Slovakia and Slovenia These countries turned from being aid recipients to donors after the turn of the millennium in the run up to EU accession in 2004 The book explains the evolution subsequent to EU accession and current state of foreign aid policies in the region and the reasons why these deviate from many of the internationally agreed best practices in development cooperation It argues that after the turn of the millennium a Global Consensus has emerged on how to make foreign aid more effective for development A comparison between the elements of the Global Consensus and the performance of the five countries reveals that while they have generally implemented little of these recommendations there are also emerging differences between the countries with the Czech Republic and Slovenia clearly aspiring to become globally responsible donors Building on the literatures on foreign policy analysis international socialization and interest group influence the book develops a model of foreign aid policy making in order to explain the general reluctance of the five countries in implementing international best practices and also the differences in their relative performance

Improving Trade Policy Reviews in the World Trade Organization Donald B. Keesing, 1998 The Trade Policy Review Mechanism is part of the World Trade Organization Its purpose is to strengthen observance of WTO commitments and promote trade liberalization by providing all member countries with objective information about the trade policies and practices of each member individually and by establishing a forum within which members can question one another's policies and practices in a nonconfrontational manner Since the TPRM was established in 1989 as one of the first fruits of the Uruguay Round of multilateral trade negotiations

some 80 trade policy reviews have been completed covering nearly 60 countries In light of eight years of experience with the process it is fair to ask whether the TPRM is meeting the goals set for it at its inception Are the reviews sufficiently probing and analytical to provide information of real value Do they cover all relevant aspects of members trade Are they unbiased and objective Does the WTO devote sufficient resources to the task of conducting the reviews and to disseminating the information that they generate Is the potential value of this information to those outside the trade negotiations process being realized This text seeks to answer these questions and others *Slovak Republic, Staff Report for the ... OECD Multi-level Governance Studies Making the Most of Public Investment in the Eastern Slovak Republic OECD,2016-04-01 The Slovak Republic has undergone significant change in the past decade While growth has been impressive compared to OECD countries overall but benefits have not accrued equally across the country This study provides recommendations to make the most of public investment in the Slovak Republic Reviewing European Union Accession Tom Hashimoto,Michael Rhimes,2017-09-25 The year 2017 has been an uneasy one for the EU with so called Brexit on the horizon and the rise of populist euroskepticism in a number of Member States This year with the tenth anniversary of the Romanian and Bulgarian accession to the Union is a good year to pause and reflect over the life and future of the Union In this work we envision the next decade with Europe 2020 strategy and review the fruits of the 2004 accession in Central and Eastern Europe What has the Union achieved Which policy areas are likely to change and how How successful and by what measure has the accession of the 10 Member States in 2004 been Reviewing European Union Accession addresses a wide range of issues deliberately without any thematic constraints in order to explore EU enlargement from a variety of perspectives both scientific and geographical internal and external In contrast to the major works in this field we highlight the interrelated and often unexpected nature of the integration process hence the subtitle unexpected results spillover effects and externalities Development Policies of Central and Eastern

European States Ondřej Horký-Hlucháň,Simon Lightfoot,2013-09-13 The states from Central and Eastern Europe that joined the EU in 2004 and 2007 provide a fascinating series of case studies for scholars interested in politics IR and development studies The interest comes from the fact that never before had so many recipients of EU aid joined the Union and taken on the commitment to become aid donors The journey from recipients of aid to aid donors is interesting because not only does it tell us about development policy in CEE states this policy area gives us an insight into governmental structures in CEE states foreign policy priorities public opinion the role of NGOs civil society and how well CEE states have taken on board the EU acquis the EU s rule book The book also explores whether the development cooperation programmes of the majority of CEEs reflect the so called transition experience of moving from authoritarianism and socialism to democracy and modern liberalism It also explores the extent to which these donors are aligned with the approaches of the DAC donors Finally by extending the scrutiny to the bottom up development activities of non state actors and public opinion

the book will analyse the dynamics of the solidarity of the former East with the global South This book was published as a special issue of Perspectives on European Politics and Society Environmental Performance of Agriculture in OECD Countries Since 1990 OECD,2008-06-16 Comprehensive up to date and internationally comparable data on the environmental performance of agriculture in OECD countries Distortions to Agricultural Incentives in Europe's Transition Economies Kym Anderson,Johan Swinnen,2008-06-05 The vast majority of the world s poorest households depend on farming for their livelihood During the 1960s and 1970s most developing countries imposed pro urban and anti agricultural policies while many high income countries restricted agricultural imports and subsidized their farmers Both sets of policies inhibited economic growth and poverty alleviation in developing countries Although progress has been made over the past two decades to reduce those policy biases many trade and welfare reducing price distortions remain between agriculture and other sectors as well as within the agricultural sector of both rich and poor countries Comprehensive empirical studies of the disarray in world agricultural markets first appeared approximately 20 years ago Since then the OECD has provided estimates each year of market distortions in high income countries but there has been no comparable estimates for the world s developing countries This volume is the first in a series other volumes cover Africa Asia and Latin America that not only fill that void for recent years but extend the estimates in a consistent and comparable way back in time and provide analytical narratives for scores of countries that shed light on the evolving nature and extent of policy interventions over the past half century Distortions to Agricultural Incentives in Europe s Transition Economies provides an overview of the evolution of distortions to agricultural incentives caused by price and trade policies in the economies of Eastern Europe and Central Asia that are transitioning away from central planning The book includes country and subregional studies of the ten transition economies of Central and Eastern Europe that joined the European Union in 2004 or 2007 of seven other large member countries of the Commonwealth of Independent States and of Turkey Together these countries comprise over 90 percent of the Europe and Central Asia region s population and GDP Sectoral trade and exchange rate policies in the region have changed greatly since the dissolution of the Soviet Union in 1991 but price distortions remain The new empirical indicators in these country studies provide a strong evidence based foundation for evaluating policy options in the years ahead
