Social Influences And Socialization In Infancy:

Social Influences and Socialization in Infancy S. Feinman, Michael Lewis, 2013-06-29 How are we to understand the complex forces that shape human behavior A variety of diverse perspectives drawing on studies of human behavioral ontogeny as well as humanity's evolutionary heritage seem to provide the best likelihood of success It is in an attempt to synthesize such potentially disparate approaches to human development into an integrated whole that we undertake this series on the genesis of behavior In many respects the incredible burgeoning of research in child development over the last two decades or so seems like a thousand lines of inquiry spreading outward in an incoherent starburst of effort The need exists to provide on an ongoing basis an arena of discourse within which the threads of continuity among those diverse lines of research on human development can be woven into a fabric of meaning and understanding Scientists scholars and those who attempt to translate their efforts into the practical realities of the care and guidance of infants and children are the audience that we seek to reach Each requires the opportunity to see to the degree that our knowledge in given areas permits various aspects of development in a coherent integrated fashion It is hoped that this series which brings together research on infant biology developing infant capacities animal models and impact of social cultural and familial forces on development and the distorted products of such forces under certain circumstances serves these important social and scientific needs

The Behavior of Human Infants Alberto Oliverio, Michele Zappella, 2013-03-09 The present workshop started with various requests on behalf of several participants some of us suggested the desirability of having only a free discussion leaving papers aside others would have preferred to stick to papers though enlarging the discussion of each of them to more general topics Further intermediate positions were also present From these different proposals came the hypothesis that a common frame or red line to all of our discussions on behavioural development would be to see what could be done by an interexchange of differing but converging disciplines in favour of children and in particular of children with psychic handicaps in terms of prevention and cure At the end of three days of prolonged meetings where each paper was given and extensively discussed one feels that a number of referral points have emerged On the one side the plasticity of behaviour on the other is reciprocity between mother and child father and child and perhaps we should add between mother and father The third point which perhaps has been only partially covered concerns the relationship between these two variables i e in terms of treatment of a child the potential plasticity of his behaviour can be used to his great advantage if it is related to the historical common needs of the reciprocal relationship for example between the child and his parents Children's Influence on Family Dynamics Ann C. Crouter, Alan Booth, 2003-04-02 This volume addresses how children's personal qualities make their mark on families in ways that may in turn influence children's subsequent development
