Transnational Catholicism in Postcommunist Europe Timothy A. Byrnes, 2001 Through the use of three case studies Poland Croatia and the Slovak Republic Timothy Byrnes argues that the Catholic Church remains deeply involved in the central politics of this vital region over both governmental structure and public policy deeply implicated for better or worse in the ethnic divisions that characterize the post communist era and profoundly part of the social fabric of virtually every state in East Central Europe

Commonwealth and Independence in Post-Soviet Eurasia Bruno Coppieters, Aleksei Zverev, Dmitrii Trenin, 1998 The demise of the Soviet Union in December 1991 was followed by various attempts to create new forms of integration for the new states of Eurasia The authors analyse in detail how the national elites in the independent states have conceived their regional policies Georgia failed to strengthen its sovereignty through integration into Western institutions The material on the Caucasus Central Asia Ukraine and Russia show that unifying projects restricted to Eurasia like the Commonwealth of Independent States CIS or the Caucasian Home are highly contested among post Soviet elites Regional integration is commonly considered to have a positive content as the creation of political stability or the development of economic links but each integration project is encountering serious opposition They are generally seen as a serious limitation to the newly acquired independence without it necessarily being considered that they enhance regional stability In this volume cultural factors are also taken into account in explaining the difficulties of creating cohesive regional institutions Left Parties And Social Policy In Postcommunist Europe Linda J Cook,2020-04-28 This book attempts to explain why and to evaluate what the return of the left has meant for the social policy of the states they have helped govern It focuses on the East Central European countries of Poland Hungary and the Czech Republic significantly Russia The American Bibliography of Slavic and East European Studies for 1994 Patt Leonard,Rebecca Routh,1997-05-31 This text provides a source of citations to North American scholarships relating specifically to the area of Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union It indexes fields of scholarship such as the humanities arts technology and life sciences and all kinds of scholarship such as PhDs
