Social Organization and Planned Development in Rural Java Sediono M. P. Tjondronegoro, 1984 The Village

Concept in the Transformation of Rural Southeast Asia Mason C. Hoadley, Christer Gunnarsson, 1996 Using examples from Indonesia Malaysia and Thailand the book considers what scholarship has defined as a village within the rapid changes taking place in rural Southeast Asia

Land Use, Nature Conservation and the Stability of Rainforest Margins in Southeast Asia Gerhard Gerold, Michael Fremerey, Edi Guhardja, 2013-06-29 Southeast Asia constitutes one of the world's most extended rainforest regions. It is characterized by a high degree of biodiversity and contains a large variety of endemic species. Moreover, these forests provide a number of important and singular ecosystem services like erosion protection and provision of high quality water which cannot be replaced by alternative ecosystems. However, various forms of encroachment, mostly those made by human interventions, seriously threaten the continuance of rainforests in this area. There is ample evidence that the rainforest resources, apart from large scale commercial logging, are exposed to danger, particularly from its margin areas. These areas, which are characterized by intensive man-nature interaction, have been identified as extremely fragile systems. The dynamic equilibrium that balances human needs and interventions on the one hand and natural regeneration capacity on the other is at stake. The decrease of rainforest resources is to a substantial degree connected with the destabilization of these systems. Accordingly, the search for measures and processes which prevent destabilization and promote stability is regarded as imperative. This refers to both the human and the natural part of the forest margin ecosystem.

The Malay World of Southeast Asia Patricia Lim Pui Huen, 1986 Over 5 000 entries arranged in four parts. Part I comprises reference and general works to provide a guide to information on Southeast Asia. Part II provides the setting of space and time. Part III features the people and Part IV the many facets of culture and society: language, ideas, beliefs, values, institutions, creative expression and social and cultural change. Within each section the arrangement is geographical, beginning with Southeast Asia as a whole, followed by the various countries in alphabetical order. State and Society in Bali H. Geertz, 2022-07-04 Balinese texts, temples, theatre performances and rituals in seven essays are placed into specific political contexts in an effort to gain a deeper understanding of the changing relations between state and society on the complex island of Bali. How have local communities been linked to various claimants to state sovereignty through Bali's history? What have been the forms and functions of the institutions that have joined peasants with kings and bureaucrats? How have these institutions changed and in what ways have they remained the same over the centuries? How have these relationships been represented by Balinese to themselves? And how should research on these issues be carried further forward? The contributors to this volume: I Gusti Ngurah Bagus, Hildred Geertz, Henk Schulte Nordholt, Raechelle Rubinstein, David J. Stuart Fox, Adrian Vickers and Carol Warren represent the disciplines of anthropology, literature and history, but all of them cut creatively across disciplinary lines. In contrast to previous Bali research, these studies put more emphasis on historical background and pay close attention to local Balinese perspectives Early and colonial history form the frame of several papers while others deal with major changes in the recent past While each paper taken alone has its own specialized concerns if the set is read as a series an outline can be discerned not only of Balinese history and culture but also of some characteristic features of the new research on Bali being carried out in the 1980s The interdisciplinary approach of this volume makes it challenging reading for a wider audience of Southeast Asianists Development and Environmental Politics Unmasked Christopher J. Shepherd, 2013-07-24 Focusing on rural development and environmental management this book brings together the detailed history of development in East Timor under two colonial regimes and under the contemporary conditions of national independence It addresses two comparative areas of development across the three political regimes and across four case studies of projects delivered by various national or international development agencies in independent East Timor Employing an original classificatory framework for kinds of approaches to development coercive orders mandated orders negotiated orders the book covers the plantation centred development of Portuguese Timor as a European colony and the integration oriented development of Timor Timur as Indonesia's 27th province It examines the neoliberal democratic development of East Timor or Timor Leste in the current context of state and nation building before drawing on case studies to investigate how development proceeds as a negotiation between authoritative state non state and international actors and local people who need to adapt development and conservation projects to suit their lived realities By using the history of East Timor to explore how particular modes of operationalising development interventions are intimately intertwined with the broader political system this book makes a valuable contribution to the fields of Development Studies Anthropology Science and Technology Studies and Southeast Asian Studies Rural Indonesia Erik Thorbecke, Theodore Van Der Pluijm, 1993 The formulation of a rural development strategy for any country is an extremely difficult and multi faceted task especially so for a country as large and diversified as Indonesia With its almost two hundred million inhabitants and its island geography Indonesia presents a particular challenge to efforts aimed at improving the lot of the rural poor Illustrating again how economic growth in urban areas rarely translates into a decrease in rural poverty this volume identifies the impact of recent changes in the national economy on the rural poor the interaction between the agricultural sector and the rural population and patterns of food consumption nutrition and health Drawing on the data and conclusions of thirteen years of IFAD experience in Indonesia this book also examines the successes and failures of past development efforts and makes tangible practical recommendations for future programs Emphasizing that different strategies are required for Java the other Inner Islands and for the Outer Islands the authors highlight the need for greater employment opportunities greater commodity and regional diversification in the form of the cultivation of secondary food crops maintenance and improvement of irrigation and the construction of roads among other programmes and a special emphasis on poor rural women An Anthropological Critique of Development Mark Hobart, 2002-05-03 Challenges the utopian view of Western knowledge as uniquely successful in its application to economic and social development The contributors offer an ethnographic critique using case studies from Europe Africa Asia and Latin America Culture and Privilege in Capitalist Asia Michael Pinches, 2005-06-23 Culture and Privilege in Capitalist Asia shows that the cultural reconfiguration of domestic and international relations around Asias new rich has often been characterised by tension and division Values and Participation Bambang Budijanto, 2009
