Examples of potential breaches of this policy include but are not limited to:

- Posting information to an online discussion forum about upcoming Target promotions or future mark-downs;

Good practice when using social media

When engaging on social media, team members should:

- exercise care and discretion with their use of online communication. Team members should work on the assumption that content may be viewed by, sent, forwarded, or transmitted to someone other than who was intended to view the communication;
- take care not to disclose other people's personal information or publish images of others without permission. Be aware that people may be readily identifiable even when names are not used;
- refer to their line manager if unsure whether an intended online communication may be in breach of this policy;
- use common sense and respect others in posts and discussions. If a team member disagrees with the opinion of another, they should keep responses appropriate and inoffensive;
- adopt the simple practice of stepping back, re-reading and thinking about what they post before doing so.

Social Policy

Daniel Béland

Social Policy:

Social Policy Hartley Dean, 2006 How do human societies provide for the wellbeing of their members How far can we organise the ways in which we care for and about each other And who should take responsibility for providing the support we all need These are some of the fundamental questions addressed by social policy today In this short introduction suitable for students at any level Hartley Dean explains the extraordinary scope and importance of social policy He explores its foundations and contemporary significance the principal issues it addresses and their diverse economic political and sociological dimensions and concludes by looking at the fundamental challenges facing social policy in a dramatically changing world Taking an innovative approach to social policy as the study of human wellbeing Hartley Dean examines the ways in which governments and peoples throughout the world attend to promote neglect or even undermine the things that make life worth living These include essential services such as healthcare and education the means of livelihood such as jobs and money and vital but sometimes intangible things such as physical and emotional security Some of these are organised by governments and official bodies Others are provided by businesses social groups community organizations neighbours and families Trying to understand all these elements which together constitute human wellbeing is the stuff of social policy
