Abstract: This work presents the results of the 2023 Graduate Study of the Bachelor's Degree in Sociology, of the Faculty of Social Sciences of the Autonomous University of Chiapas (UNACH), in Mexico, which allows institutional feedback through the opinions of its graduates on the quality of their professional training, its relevance to their job performance and suggestions for updating the study program based on their experiences in the labor market and the social environment they face (Aldana et al, 2008). The Study of Graduates of the Bachelor's Degree in Sociology was based on the survey provided by the National Association of Universities and Higher Education Institutions (ANUIES), which was adapted to the specific context of the state of Chiapas carried out by the Institutional Graduate Monitoring Program (PISE) of UNACH and was applied to graduates of the 2022 generations, through the Institutional Graduate Monitoring System (SISE).

Keywords: vocational training, job performance, study of graduates, sociology.

1. INTRODUCTION

This paper presents the results of the Study of Graduates of the Bachelor's Degree in Sociology, from the Faculty of Social Sciences of the UNACH, carried out in 2023 and represents an elementary factor for institutional feedback, taking into consideration the opinions of its graduates about the quality of their professional training, its relevance to their job performance and suggestions for updating the study program based on their experiences in the labor market and the social environment they face (Aldana et al, 2008). Specifically, action strategies are required to improve the quality situation of the Sociology program and also to facilitate the insertion of its graduates into the labor market, which from the perspective of Fernández (2016), involves the need to define what it means, refers to the job of the sociologist, reflecting and consolidating professional identity and the organization of university studies; in this last factor, the contributions made by graduate studies are of great relevance.

Higher educational institutions face the need to achieve and guarantee the quality of the services they offer, such as vocational training and in this trend, offer quality study programs that understand their relevance, feasibility and that are linked with the productive, service and social sectors.

A relevant strategy that allows assessing the relevance and quality of the educational programs taught in the academic unit is the Graduate Study, whose evaluation of the performance of graduates in the labor market is considered one of the most reliable indicators of the relevance of the educational programs that support their training (Fresán, 1998; Valencia, Alonzo and Moguel, 2015), self-assessment, accreditation through academic peers, among others, are also relevant.

In the processes of consolidating the quality and relevance of higher level educational programs, a central factor to consider is the institutional feedback provided by the studies and follow-up of graduates, which allow us to know the opinions of graduates about the quality of their training professional, the relevance of this in their work performance and the suggestions for updating the

Handbook of Education Policy Research Gary Sykes, Barbara Schneider, David N. Plank, 2012-09-10 Co published by Routledge for the American Educational Research Association AERA

Educational policy continues to be of major concern. Policy debates about economic growth and national competitiveness for example commonly focus on the importance of human capital and a highly educated workforce. Defining the theoretical boundaries and methodological approaches of education policy research are the two primary themes of this comprehensive AERA sponsored Handbook. Organized into seven sections, the Handbook focuses on: 1. disciplinary foundations of educational policy, 2. methodological perspectives, 3. the policy process, 4. resources management and organization, 5. teaching and learning policy, 6. actors and institutions, and 7. education access and differentiation. Drawing from multiple disciplines, the Handbook's over one hundred authors address three central questions: What policy issues and questions have oriented current policy research? What research strategies and methods have proven most fruitful? And what issues, questions, and methods will drive future policy research? Topics such as early childhood education, school choice, access to higher education, teacher accountability, and testing and measurement cut across the 63 chapters in the volume. The politics surrounding these and other issues are objectively analyzed by authors and commentators. Each of the seven sections concludes with two commentaries by leading scholars in the field. The first considers the current state of policy design and the second addresses the current state of policy research. This book is appropriate for scholars and graduate students working in the field of education policy and for the growing number of academic government and think tank researchers engaged in policy research. The Politics of Social Policy in the United States. Margaret Weir, Ann Shola Orloff, Theda Skocpol, 2020-12-08. This volume places the welfare debates of the 1980s in the context of past patterns of U.S. policy such as the Social Security Act of 1935, the failure of efforts in the 1940s to extend national social benefits and economic planning, and the backlashes against big government that followed reforms of the 1960s and early 1970s. Historical analysis reveals that certain social policies have flourished in the United States: those that have appealed simultaneously to middle class and lower income people while not involving direct bureaucratic interventions into local communities. The editors suggest how new family and employment policies devised along these lines might revitalize broad political coalitions and further basic national values. The contributors are Edwin Amenta, Robert Aponte, Mary Jo Bane, Kenneth Finegold, John Myles, Kathryn Neckerman, Gary Orfield, Ann Shola Orloff, Jill Quadagno, Theda Skocpol, Helene
