Story Number 2 For Children Under Three Years Of Age

Michael W. Pratt, Barbara H. Fiese

Story Number 2 For Children Under Three Years Of Age:

Picturebooks Evelyn Arizpe, Maureen Farrell, Julie McAdam, 2014-10-14 The picturebook is now recognized as a sophisticated art form that has provided a space for some of the most exciting innovations in the field of children's literature. This book brings together the work of expert scholars from the UK, the USA and Europe to present original theoretical perspectives and new research on picturebooks and their readers. The authors draw on a variety of disciplines such as art and cultural history, semiotics, philosophy, cultural geography, visual literacy, education and literary theory in order to revisit the question of what a picturebook is and how the best authors and illustrators meet and exceed artistic, narrative and cultural expectations. The book looks at the socio-historical conditions of different times and countries in which a range of picturebooks have been created, pointing out variations but also highlighting commonalities. It also discusses what the stretching of borders may mean for new generations of readers and what contemporary children themselves have to say about picturebooks. This book was originally published as a special issue of the New Review of Children's Literature and Librarianship.

Under-three Year Olds in Policy and Practice E. Jayne White, Carmen Dalli, 2016-10-19 The first book in the series Policy and Pedagogy with Under three year olds, Cross-Disciplinary insights and innovations establishes a path for the much-needed examination of the experiences of infants and toddlers in contemporary educational settings across the globe. Bringing together internationally renowned scholars in the field, it starts a series of discussions about the positioning of under three year olds in contemporary practice and policy contexts. It takes an in-depth look at what this means for our understanding of under three year olds and those who share their worlds. Featuring some of the most important contemporary topics in this pedagogical domain such as care, well-being, belonging, professionalism and status, the contributors offer a kaleidoscope of perspectives for contemplating the new normality of very young children living their lives in group-based early childhood settings and what gives rise to their current realities. It also explores some important policy directions and trends.

Ionesco Richard Coe, 2023-02-14 First published in 1971, Ionesco is a study of the plays written by the absurdist playwright Eugene Ionesco. Eugene Ionesco's play La Cantatrice Chauve first presented in 1950 established him as one of the most provocative leaders of post-war Theatre of the Absurd. By 1970, his work had been performed by leading actors and companies all over the world. The author attempts to understand this enigmatic playwright and his plays while trying to explore the reasons behind his quick popularity. This book will be of interest to students of literature, drama, philosophy and history.

Family Stories and the Life Course Michael W. Pratt, Barbara H. Fiese, 2004-04-26 This edited book draws from work that focuses on the act of telling family stories as well as their content and structure The process of telling family stories is linked to central aspects of development including language acquisition affect regulation and family interaction patterns This book extends across traditional developmental psychology personality theory and family studies Drawing broadly on the epigenetic framework for individual development articulated by Erik Erikson as well as on conceptions of the family life cycle the editors bring together contemporary examples of psychological research on family stories and their implications for development and change at different points in the life course The book is divided into sections that focus on family stories at different points in the life cycle from early childhood and the beginnings of narrative skill through adolescence young adulthood midlife and then mature adulthood and its intergenerational meaning During each of these periods of the life cycle research focusing on individual development within an Eriksonian framework of ego strengths and virtues is highlighted The dynamic role of family stories is also featured here with work exploring the links between family process intergenerational attachment and storytelling Sociocultural theories that emphasize how such development is situated in the wider cultural context are also featured in several chapters This broad lifespan developmental focus serves to integrate the exciting diversity of this work and foster further questions and research in the emerging field of family narrative The book is intended primarily for researchers and advanced level students in the fields of developmental and personality psychology as well as those in family studies and in gerontology It may also be of interest to those in the helping professions who are concerned with family therapy and family issues and may due to its content and illustrative material have appeal to a wider market of the lay public The chapters are written in a readily accessible style and the analyses are presented in a fairly non technical way Because family stories are charted across the lifespan it would be a suitable companion book to a more traditional lifespan textbook in certain courses
