Stranger Among Us Hiring In Home Sup:

A Stranger Among Us Lisa Ackerson Lieberman, 2005 Making the decision to bring a stranger into your home to care for your child is a difficult one. However, after reading Lieberman's book, the process of hiring in-home care providers will seem much less intimidating. Based on the author's many years of experience both as a parent and a professional, this one-of-a-kind book starts out discussing the pros and cons of hiring in-home care providers for children with autism spectrum and other neurological disorders. The author breaks down the process and takes the reader step by step through the various stages, starting with assessing the needs of the child and the family, including their core values, to advertising for, interviewing, hiring, and training a care provider. Even parents who are only looking for occasional respite care will find this a valuable resource.

Guiding Your Teenager with Special Needs Through the Transition from School to Adult Life Mary Korpi, 2008 When teenagers with special needs transition from school to adult life, both they and their families are faced with many new decisions and challenges. Whether your child or student has Asperger's or is on the more severely impaired end of the autism spectrum, this action-oriented guide will provide hope and help so that every child has a chance to reach his or her full potential.

Sharing Information about Your Child with Autism Spectrum Disorder Beverly Vicker, 2007 Leaving a child with a paid respite care worker, friend, neighbour, or even an extended family member represents a potentially stressful situation for parents of children who have an autism spectrum disorder or any other developmental challenge. This book eases some of the apprehensions associated with parents communicating their child's behaviour, daily living patterns, and food rituals to a person who is not familiar with the child. Broken into five sections, the first section describes how parents can document their child's medical issues, preferences, skill levels, and other information. The second section consists of short handouts that can help respite workers understand general topics such as the importance of routines or relaxation strategies. In the third section, case studies illustrate, for example, how information about behaviour and positive behaviour supports might be shared in a written format between a parent and respite worker Section 4 contains blank forms for parents to use for paper and pencil preparation of information material In addition an accompanying CD allows parents to use their computer to prepare the information sheets and to print the supplementary handouts Updating information is especially easy when the computer option is used A Live Controversy Roxana Hartmann, Joseph Hartmann, 2010 The true story of a family dealing with autism and all that implies especially the effects of autism at home and within the public school system This is also the story of Mark Hartmann the authors son who turned 23 years old on August 21 2008 Preface xvii 2011 Hidden Curriculum One a Day Calendar For Older
