Creating the Cold War University Rebecca S. Lowen, 1997-07-01 The cold war university is the academic component of the military industrial academic complex and its archetype according to Rebecca Lowen is Stanford University Her book challenges the conventional wisdom that the post World War II multiversity was created by military patrons on the one hand and academic scientists on the other and points instead to the crucial role played by university administrators in making their universities dependent upon military foundation and industrial patronage Contesting the view that the federal grant university originated with the outpouring of federal support for science after the war Lowen shows how the Depression had put financial pressure on universities and pushed administrators to seek new modes of funding She also details the ways that Stanford administrators transformed their institution to attract patronage With the end of the cold war and the tightening of federal budgets universities again face pressures not unlike those of the 1930s Lowen s analysis of how the university became dependent on the State is essential reading for anyone concerned about the future of higher education in the post cold war era

Searching and Researching Richard R. Ernst, Matthias Meili, 2021-12-28 In the last 130 years 30 Swiss people have won a Nobel Prize and one of them is Richard R Ernst He laid the foundation for magnetic resonance imaging MRI which revolutionized medical diagnostics across the globe In his autobiography which the scientist completed shortly before he passed away at the age of 87 he talks about his life Prof Ernst grew up in a family long established in Winterthur Switzerland however his childhood and adolescence were overshadowed by a demanding father He talks in detail about the start of his career in the 1960s when he made a number of key discoveries at Varian Associates Palo Alto USA as well as about his return to ETH Zurich Switzerland and the shark tank that university research is The highly talented chemist reveals how his passion for Himalayan art began while travelling in Nepal which ended in him building up one of the most significant collections of thangkas the tantric Buddhist scrolls In this book Prof Ernst discusses openly and directly about all aspects of his life with humility and a wry sense of humor Making Silicon Valley Christophe Lécuyer,2006 A history of the innovative practices in the San Francisco area electronics industry that paved the way for the rise of the computer industry in Silicon Valley

The Country in the City Richard A. Walker,2009-11-23 Winner of the Western History Association s 2009 Hal K Rothman Award Finalist in the Western Writers of America Spur Award for the Western Nonfiction Contemporary category 2008 The San Francisco Bay Area is one of the world s most beautiful cities Despite a population of 7 million people it is more greensward than asphalt jungle more open space than hardscape A vast quilt of countryside is tucked into the folds of the metropolis stitched from fields farms and woodlands mines creeks and wetlands In The Country in the City Richard Walker tells the story of how the jigsaw geography of this greenbelt has been set into place The Bay Area s civic landscape has been fought over acre by acre an arduous process requiring popular mobilization political will and hard work Its most cherished environments Mount Tamalpais Napa Valley San Francisco Bay Point Reyes Mount Diablo the Pacific coast have engendered some of the fiercest environmental battles in the country and have made the region a leader in green ideas and organizations This book tells how the Bay Area got its green grove from the stirrings of conservation in the time of John Muir to origins of the recreational parks and coastal preserves in the early twentieth century from the fight to stop bay fill and control suburban growth after the Second World War to securing conservation easements and stopping toxic pollution in our times Here modern environmentalism first became a mass political movement in the 1960s with the sudden blooming of the Sierra Club and Save the Bay and it remains a global center of environmentalism to this day Green values have been a pillar of Bay Area life and politics for more than a century It is an environmentalism grounded in local places and personal concerns close to the heart of the city Yet this vision of what a city should be has always been informed by liberal even utopian ideas of nature planning government and democracy In the end green is one of the primary colors in the flag of the Left Coast where green enthusiasms like open space are built into the fabric of urban life Written in a lively and accessible style The Country in the City will be of interest to general readers and environmental activists At the same time it speaks to fundamental debates in environmental history urban planning and geography Ansel Adams Anne Hammond,Ansel Adams,2002-01-01 Despite his significance little scholarly attention has been paid to Adams s contributions as an artist or his place in photographic history This handsome book addresses this gap by looking beyond his reputation as a Sierra Club environmentalist and examining in depth his life as an artist and the complexities of his creative vision 80 illustrations

Electronics David Morton,Joseph Gabriel,2007-11-29 Electronics relates the fascinating stories of how scientists and engineers created and commercialized such devices as the transistor the Magnetron tube used to power microwave ovens the CRT cathode ray tube the laser the first integrated circuit the microprocessor and memory chips Instituting Science

Timothy Lenoir, 1997 Early practitioners of the social studies of science turned their attention away from questions of institutionalization which had tended to emphasize macrolevel explanations and attended instead to microstudies of laboratory practice Though sympathetic to this approach as the microstudies included in this book attest the author is interested in re investigating certain aspects of institution formation notably the formation of scientific medical and engineering disciplines He emphasizes the manner in which science as cultural practice is imbricated with other forms of social political and even aesthetic practices This book offers case studies that reexamine certain critical junctures in the traditional historical picture of the evolution of the role of the scientist in modern Western society It focuses especially on the establishment of new disciplines within German research universities in the nineteenth century the problematic relationship that emerged between science industry and the state at the turn of the twentieth century and post World War II developments in science and technology After an Introduction and two chapters dealing with science and technology as cultural production and the struggles of disciplines to achieve legitimation and authority the author considers the following topics the organic physics of 1847 the innovative research program of Carl Ludwig as a model for institutionalizing science based medicine optics painting and ideology in Germany 1845 95 Paul Ehrlich s magic bullet the Haber Bosch synthesis of ammonia and the introduction of nuclear magnetic resonance instrumentation into the practice of organic chemistry

Cancer, Radiation Therapy, and the Market Barbara Bridgman Perkins, 2017-08-16 Cancer Radiation Therapy and the Market shows how the radiation therapy specialty in the United States later called radiation oncology co evolved with its device industry throughout the twentieth century Academic engineers and physicians acquired financing to develop increasingly powerful radiation devices initiated companies to manufacture the devices competitively and designed hospital and freestanding procedure units to utilize them In the process they incorporated market strategies into medical organization and practice This provocative inquiry concludes that public health policy needs to re evaluate market driven high tech medicine and build evidence based health care systems
