The Invisible Core A Potters Life And Thoughts:

The Invisible Core Marguerite Wildenhain, 1973 Life and reflections of a woman artist and craftsman who has lived and worked in northern California for more than thirty years A Potter's Companion Ronald Larsen, 1993 A collection of literature essays stories poems about the fascinating history aesthetics and philosophy behind making pots or any other works by hand Live Form Jenni Sorkin, 2016-07-26 Ceramics had a far reaching impact in the second half of the twentieth century as its artists worked through the same ideas regarding abstraction and form as those for other creative mediums Live Form shines new light on the relation of ceramics to the artistic avant garde by looking at the central role of women in the field potters who popularized ceramics as they worked with or taught male counterparts like John Cage Peter Voulkos and Ken Price Sorkin focuses on three Americans who promoted ceramics as an advanced artistic medium Marguerite Wildenhain a Bauhaus trained potter and writer Mary Caroline M C Richards who renounced formalism at Black Mountain College to pursue new performative methods and Susan Peterson best known for her live throwing demonstrations on public television Together these women pioneered a hands on teaching style and led educational and therapeutic activities for war veterans students the elderly and many others Far from being an isolated field ceramics offered a sense of community and social engagement which Sorkin argues crucially set the stage for later participatory forms of art and feminist collectivism North American Women Artists of the Twentieth Century Jules Heller, Nancy G. Heller, 2013-12-19 First Published in 1997 North American Women Artists of the Twentieth Century A Biographical Dictionary was created to fill a gap of there being a comprehensive reference work like this available even though the bibliography in English on various aspects of the history of women artists has grown exponentially during the past ten years As researchers the editors have been frustrated many times by being unable to locate basic information about many of the artists included in this volume especially those working outside the United States This leads directly to another reason for producing this particular kind of reference book to try and create a better understanding between and among the artists and art audiences in these countries

Reference Services in the Humanities Judy Reynolds, 1994-11-11 This helpful book provides practical insight into the work and environment of reference services in the humanities Librarian s mental maps of humanities reference materials must include an awareness of the metaphoric not too precise nature of many patrons queries Reference Services in the Humanities discusses the structure of literature in the humanities and how it matches or challenges mental images of the field Chapters are infused with the issues of language names and meaning within a metaphoric genre The book serves as a guide to humanist s use of metaphoric language and also as a bibliography of sources Reference Services in the Humanities contains specific references for finding materials in areas that are not traditional mainstream arts This sample of disciplines provides case studies depicting each field s particular idiosyncrasies Chapters examine the challenge of referral reference and common problems encountered in searching for answers to patrons questions The book contains a theoretical framework for interacting with patrons and addresses options for humanities reference in an electronic age This book brings together librarians and researchers who provide and manage reference services to a wide array of disciplines within the humanities Authors come from all types of libraries and represent a broad spectrum of patrons from the young student curious about the movies to practicing musicians and craftspeople This diversity provides an informative grounding for practitioners and library school students and faculty who wish to become effective reference librarians in the future Reference Services in the Humanities is divided into four sections which address research questions and challenges in selected disciplines descriptions from the field political issues in the humanities and theories and ideas for the future Specific topics explored include access to special collections censorship library resources for theater artists history research vocabulary control labeling of minorities craft information sources and much more
