of James Bond films Altered States of Consciousness in the Movies John C. Stephens, 2024 Altered states of consciousness ASCs including dreams hypnosis spirit possession and brainwashing have long captivated contemporary culture In the 20th century Hollywood integrated ASCs into an array of films reflecting society's fascination with the subject While early cinematic portrayals laid the groundwork the depiction of ASCs on the silver screen surged with the advent of special effects in the 1960s and have only become more prevalent since This book traces the rise and proliferation of ASCs within American cinema focusing specifically on major studio releases from the 1940s onward By examining various aspects of altered consciousness from weaponized hypnosis to spiritual encounters the text sheds light on the cultural reception of these films The author also discusses recent research on ASCs and the emergence of discrepancies between scientific knowledge and cinematic representation Blur Martine Beugnet, 2026-02-03 In cinema blurriness is usually intended to go unnoticed When it appears it is either considered an error a mistake of focus or a technological failure or a background effect of shallow focus intended to offset a defined image As Martine Beugnet argues however blur is an essential feature of the cinema possessing its own properties and affordances and capable of powerful effects Examining an array of notable examples of blurriness from horror to art cinema and experimental film and including the works of the Lumière brothers Josef von Sternberg Agnès Varda and many others she develops a taxonomy of blurs from speed and motion blur to the hand held shaky camera blur common in contemporary digital cinema These wide ranging instances all return the viewer to the sensorial and material qualities of the moving image In the face of technological developments that valorize sharpness as an indicator of progress blur stands as a provocative reminder of the value of uncertainty a sign of the irreducible mystery at the heart of the filmic image
