The Self, Relational Sociology, and Morality in Practice Owen Abbott, 2019-10-21 Winner of the 2020 British Sociological Association Philip Abrams Prize Providing a theory of moral practice for a contemporary sociological audience Owen Abbott shows that morality is a relational practice achieved by people in their everyday lives He moves beyond old dualisms society versus the individual social structure versus agency body versus mind to offer a sociologically rigorous and coherent theory of the relational constitution of the self and moral practice which is both shared and yet enacted from an individualized perspective In so doing The Self Relational Sociology and Morality in Practice not only offers an urgently needed account of moral practice and its integral role in the emergence of the self but also examines morality itself within and through social relations and practices Abbott s conclusions will be of interest to social scientists and philosophers of morality those working with pragmatic and interactionist approaches and those involved with relational sociology and social theory

Social Constructionist Psychology David

Nightingale, John Cromby, 1999-09-16 How can ideas about the social construction of reality be reconciled with the material and embodied aspects of our being? In what ways can a realist framework inform social constructionist research? What are the limits of social constructionism? This accessible text draws together for the first time a wide range of emerging issues, ideas and discussions in constructionist psychology. It shows how these issues are relevant to everyday life using carefully chosen examples to illustrate its arguments and provides a coherent and challenging introduction to the field. The book explores the growing conviction that dominant discursive trends in social constructionism which deal with the analysis of language and discourse to the exclusion of the material world, embodiment, personal social history and power are inadequate or incomplete and risk preventing social constructionism from maturing into a viable and coherent body of theory, method and practice. In highlighting what are seen as deficiencies in current constructionist approaches it inevitably takes a somewhat critical stance. However, the contributing authors are committed to a constructionist analysis of the human condition into which they seek to reintegrate the material and embodied aspects of our nature. As a result, the completion of social constructionism is brought a step closer and its continued importance is underlined.

Moral Judgments as Educated Intuitions Hanno

Sauer, 2022-11-01 An argument that moral reasoning plays a crucial role in moral judgment through episodes of rational reflection that have established patterns for automatic judgment foundation. Rationalists about the psychology of moral judgment argue that moral cognition has a rational foundation Recent challenges to this account based on findings in the empirical psychology of moral judgment contend that moral thinking has no rational basis In this book Hanno Sauer argues that moral reasoning does play a role in moral judgment but not as is commonly supposed because conscious reasoning produces moral judgments directly Moral reasoning figures in the acquisition formation maintenance and reflective correction of moral intuitions Sauer proposes that when we make moral judgments we draw on a stable repertoire of intuitions about what is morally acceptable which we have acquired over the course of our moral education episodes of rational reflection that have established patterns for automatic judgment foundation Moral judgments are educated and rationally amenable moral intuitions Sauer engages extensively with the empirical evidence on the psychology of moral judgment and argues that it can be shown empirically that reasoning plays a crucial role in moral judgment He offers detailed counterarguments to the anti rationalist challenge the claim that reason and reasoning play no significant part in morality and moral judgment and the emotionist challenge the argument for the emotional basis of moral judgment Finally he uses Joshua Greene s Dual Process model of moral cognition to test the empirical viability and normative persuasiveness of his account of educated intuitions Sauer shows that moral judgments can be automatic emotional intuitive and rational at the same time
