Let's Do It Bob Stanley,2022-09-06 The must read music book of the year and the first such history bringing together all musical genres to tell the definitive narrative of the birth of Pop from 1900 to the mid 1950s Pop music didn t begin with the Beatles in 1963 or with Elvis in 1956 or even with the first seven inch singles in 1949 There was a pre history that went back to the first recorded music right back to the turn of the century Who were these earliest record stars and were they in any meaningful way pop stars Who was George Gershwin writing songs for Why did swing the hit sound for a decade or more become almost invisible after World War II The prequel to Bob Stanley s celebrated Yeah Yeah Yeah this new volume is the first book to tell the definitive story of the birth of pop from the invention of the 78 rpm record at the end of the nineteenth century to the beginnings of rock and the modern pop age Covering superstars such as Louis Armstrong Bessie Smith Duke Ellington and Frank Sinatra alongside the unheralded songwriters and arrangers behind some of our most enduring songs Stanley paints an aural portrait of pop music s formative years in stunning clarity uncovering the silver threads and golden needles that bind the form together Bringing the eclectic evolving world of early pop to life from ragtime blues and jazz to Broadway country crooning and beyond Let s Do It is essential reading for all music lovers An encyclopaedic introduction to the fascinating and often forgotten creators of Anglo American hit music in the first half of the twentieth century Neil Tennant The Pet Shop Boys

To Myself A Stranger Patricia Dunlavy Valenti,1999-03-01 When she was forty four years old Rose Hawthorne Lathrop left her comfortable home in New London Connecticut and soon thereafter took an apartment on Manhattan s Lower East Side She ran a newspaper ad inviting indigents dying of cancer to come live with her to be cared for until their death The journey that led this daughter of one of America's most prominent literary figures to that Lower East Side tenement is the subject of this fascinating and far reaching biography by Patricia Dunlavy Valenti. Rose was born in 1851 the youngest child of Nathaniel and Sophia Hawthorne. As an adult she reflected upon a childhood that made me seem to myself a stranger who had come too late. Indeed throughout much of her life Rose found her own sense of identity subsumed by the demands and needs of those closest to her. She was overshadowed not only by her famous father but also by her brother Julian who achieved a modest degree of literary fame in his own right and by her sister Una whose fragile health was a constant source of concern to her family. In 1871 Rose married George Parsons Lathrop who would become a writer and an editor of her father's works. Rose herself had begun to write fiction and poetry at an early age and after the death of their only child in 1881 she saw the publication of much of her work. Valenti reads these stories and poems with a biographer's eye and finds them filled with clues pointing to the remarkable transformation that would allow their author to transcend Victorian constraints and claim the kind of life that would realize her singular gifts. Particularly illuminating are the works Rose completed during the years in which she was making a break from her husband whom she left in 1896. After her final separation from her husband Rose who had converted to Roman Catholicism in 1891 devoted the remainder of her life to the work carried on to this day by the order of nuns she founded the Servants of Relief for Incurable Cancer. The account of her ministry begun when cancer was thought contagious should establish Rose Hawthorne Lathrop as a visionary in her belief that everyone has a right to die with dignity and as a pioneer in her advocacy of compassionate methods of caring for those near death. Valenti's well written and thoroughly researched biography will interest a wide audience from those who would enjoy a lively glimpse of the Hawthorne household to those concerned with the documenting of women's contributions to society.
