You Have a Point There Eric

Partridge,2003-09-02 This standard work on punctuation has long been judged the foremost study of the subject It reveals punctuation to be both an indispensable craft and an invaluable art a friend not an enemy A Shorter English Grammar Charles Peter Mason,1890 Verbatim ,1983 The Oxford History of English Lexicography A. P. Cowie,2008-12-04 These substantial volumes present the fullest account yet published of the lexicography of English from its origins in medieval glosses through its rapid development in the eighteenth century to a fully established high tech industry that is as reliant as ever on learning and scholarship The history covers dictionaries of English and its national varieties including American English with numerous references to developments in Europe and elsewhere which have influenced the course of English lexicography Part one of Volume I explores the early development of glosses and bilingual and multilingual dictionaries and examines their influence on lexicographical methods and ideas Part two presents a systematic history of monolingual dictionaries of English and includes extensive chapters on Johnson Webster and his successors in the USA and the OED It also contains descriptions of the development of dictionaries of national and regional varieties and of Old and Middle English and concludes with an account of the computerization of the OED The specialized dictionaries described in Volume II include dictionaries of science dialects synonyms etymology pronunciation slang and cant quotations phraseology and personal and place names This volume also includes an account of the inception and development of dictionaries developed for particular users especially foreign learners of English The Oxford History of English Lexicography unites scholarship with readability It provides a unique and accessible reference for scholars and professional lexicographers and offers a series of fascinating encounters with the men and women involved over the centuries in the making of works of profound national and linguistic importance Parodies of the Works of English & American Authors ,1889 Includes parodies of Tennyson Longfellow Bret Harte Thomas Hood Swinburne Browning Shakespeare Milton Poe Shelley Cowper Coleridge Herrick Carroll Lever Lover Burns Scott Goldsmith Kingsley Byron and many others Phraseology and Culture in English Paul Skandera,2008-08-22 The proposition that there is a correlation between language and culture or culture specific ways of thinking can be traced back to the views of Herder and von Humboldt in the late 18th and early 19th centuries It is generally accepted today that a language especially its lexicon influences its speakers cultural patterns of thought and perception in various ways for example through a culture specific segmentation of the extralinguistic reality the frequency of occurrence of particular lexical items or the existence of keywords or key word combinations revealing core cultural values The aim of this volume is to explore the cultural dimension of a wide range of preconstructed or semi preconstructed word combinations in English The 17 papers of the volume are divided into four sections focusing on particular lexemes e g enjoy and its collocates types of word combinations e g proverbs and similes use related varieties such as the language of tourism or answering machine messages and user related varieties such as Aboriginal English or African English The sections are preceded by a prologue tracing the development of the study of formulaic language and followed by an epilogue which draws together the threads laid out in the various papers The relation between language and culture in general has been explored in a number of important works over the past ten years However the study of the relation between English phraseology and culture in particular has been largely neglected This volume is the first book length publication devoted entirely to this topic

Handbook of Reference Sources and Services for Small and Medium-Sized Libraries Margaret I.
