Rediscovering Humanitarianism Jessica Stroja, 2025-06-06. This book provides a new approach to understanding the histories of refugee resettlement and their relevance for contemporary emergencies. By drawing on histories of faith-based humanitarianism from 1917 to the present, it explores how faith-based organisations have engaged with refugee aid and the efforts of other secular humanitarian movements. These understandings of humanitarianism and refugee resettlement are developed through the lens of faith-based histories and intersections with secular humanitarian movements. The book uses these histories to understand trends in humanitarian development and interactions between multiple organisations that have held ongoing roles in refugee emergencies. Exploring interactions between these organisations provides new ways of understanding humanitarianism and trends in the delivery of refugee aid. As the number of refugees requiring assistance continues to increase globally, understanding trends in this historical development has never been more important. This gives new ways to understand the provision of refugee aid via a broad spectrum of organisations rather than groups from separate categories acting in isolation. Despite the frequent marginalisation of faith-based organisations, the book shows they have reframed humanitarian efforts. This provides researchers, policy makers and practitioners with new ways to approach this challenge and the historical development of refugee aid.

The Australasian Insurance & Banking Record, 1928 Critical Writing for Embodied Approaches Elizabeth Mackinlay, 2019-02-21. Autoethnography is a unique discipline which steps inside and outside the self to experience, embody and express social and cultural meaning. At once a performative, political and poetic genre of research writing, it holds the potential to uncover the heart of the world if only for a moment. The author uses theory as story and story as theory to explore her place in the world through painstaking and intimate self and social narratives to lay bare the unique challenges and rewards of autoethnography Framed around the metaphor of heartlines the author explores autoethnographic practice as critical feminist and decolonial work and the power it holds for not only imagining a wise ethical and loving world but for making such a kind place possible Through a performative journey of the heart we travel with the author as she unearths the power of words of writing and not writing evoking in particular the work of Hélène Cixous and Virginia Woolf This reflective passionate and pioneering volume will be of interest and value to all those interested in autoethnography and the ways in which it can be applied as critical ethical and political work in the social sciences
