Sikkema-de Jong, 2022-05-03 Language and Literacy Development in Bilingual Settings Aydin Yücesan Durgunoglu, Claude Goldenberg, 2011-03-14 Grounded in state of the art research this book explores how English language learners develop both the oral language and literacy skills necessary for school success. Chapters examine the cognitive bases of English acquisition and how the process is different for children from alphabetic such as Spanish and nonalphabetic such as Chinese language backgrounds. The book addresses a key challenge facing educators and clinicians identifying students whose poor English skills may indicate an underlying impairment as opposed to still developing language proficiency. Implications for diagnosis intervention and instruction are highlighted throughout The Study of Dyslexia Martin Turner, John Rack, 2005-02-03 In long ago 1999 the Dyslexia Institute and Plenum Press conceived a plan for two books which would gather the best of current knowledge and practice in dyslexia studies. This would benefit those but not only those many individuals who train with us acquiring a postgraduate certificate and diploma with our higher education partner the University of York. Since then the century changed the hinge of history creaked and Plenum was taken over by Kluwer Academic Publishers but the first of the pair Dyslexia in Practice emerged quickly and on schedule. Townend and Turner 2000. Written by staff and close associates of the Institute its chapters were produced under close scrutiny and with the expedition of a command economy. To our delight the book has seen a success which went beyond the dreams of its editors it has been adopted by other courses similar to our own and is widely referred to. The same was never likely to be true of The Study of Dyslexia which was envisaged as a theoretical companion volume written by authors and researchers of international repute. Nearly five years after the idea first took shape this second volume now arrives to complete the enterprise but it has been a very different project A New
