Greener,2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1885 edition Excerpt Colt Revolver and the cartridge cases are removed after firing by working a rammer placed beneath the barrel We illustrate one of the smaller models in Fig 257 It is known as the Bull dog and takes the 380 long cartridge other sizes as 410 442 450 are made but they are heavier and more cumbrous than the English patterns All these revolvers are expensive and as they are not self extracting English revolvers of the best make are preferred to them and they are also much more handy SELF EXTRACTING REVOLVERS The idea of making revolvers self extracting appears to have originated with M Galand a Belgian maker but his ideas were rapidly improved upon Amongst the earlier self extracting revolvers was the Thomas which we illustrate in Fig 258 by turning over the barrel and forcing it forward an inch and a half the fired cases are ejected as shown This is accomplished by having the barrel and chamber to slide along the chamber spindle and body of the pistol the extractor being fast to the spindle retains the cartridge cases until the chamber is clear of them A further improvement is the Self extracting Revolver This principle of ejecting the cases originated we believe with Messrs Smith and Wesson of the United States but it has been improved upon considerably both in England and Belgium We illustrate one of the improved revolvers in Fig 259 The improvement mainly consists in the method of making fast the barrel and chambers to the pistol body and in the employment of a rebounding cock Large quantities of these revolvers are made in Belgium in imitation of our Bull dog and Irish Constabulary models The English Army Revolver made upon The Gun and Its Development - Scholar's Choice Edition William Wellington Greener, 2015-02-08 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to the original work as possible Therefore you will see the original copyright references library stamps as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world and other notations in the work This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work As a reproduction of a historical artifact this work may contain missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant The Gun and Its Development William Wellington Greener, 1892 The Gun and Its Development William Wellington Greener,
