Black,2020-06-18 Mythology for centuries has served as humanity's window into understanding its distant past. In our modern world, storytelling creates its own myths and legends in media ranging from the world of television and cinema to literature and comic books that help us make sense of the world we live in today. What is the Mytharc? How did it arise? How does it inform modern long form storytelling? How does the classical hero's journey intersect with modern myths and narratives? And where might the storytelling of tomorrow take readers and viewers as we imagine our future? From The X-Files to H.P. Lovecraft from Lost to the Marvel cinematic universe and many worlds beyond, this study explores our modern storytelling mythology and where it may lead us.

On the Fly Elise Faber,2025-04-28 She's the one woman I can't have. And yet I can't let her go. I've respected Joey Josephine Banks from the moment I first came to the Sierra Hockey organization. Over the years, that respect grew into friendship and eventually it became something more. Something dangerous. Something that I could never allow myself to have. So I stayed away. But then I discover the truth about Joey's past with the team's former head coach and everything changes. I can't stay away. I don't care about bad press or dumb decisions or all the ways a relationship between us can implode. I just know I'll do everything to make her mine. Author's note: There are some difficult themes in this story. For CW information, please check this book's page on my website.

Primetime 1966-1967 Thom "Beefstew" Shubilla,2022-04-26 The year 1966 was when many TV viewers all over America discovered the wonders of living color. The 1966-1967 primetime television lineup was remarkable not only for the legendary shows that aired but also because it was the first season in which every show on primetime across all three major networks was broadcast entirely in color. Celebrating this iconic year of television, this book covers every scripted episodic show that aired on the ABC, CBS, and NBC networks during the 1966-1967 season in primetime. It includes longtime favorites such as Batman, Bonanza, Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea, and The Lucy Show, and the notable shows that premiered that year such as Star Trek, The Monkees, Green Hornet, Mission Impossible, It's About Time, and the color revival of Dragnet. Walk into Your Season Peyton McCoy,2013-03-29 The significance of Walk into Your Season is that it ponders whether a cultural worker can renew the role of free spaces of empowerment to address power differentials utilizing key contributors such as the traditions and language of a culture, the cultural workers' potential to facilitate action and transformation, and the intentional effort to make the hidden transcript of resistance public. By illustrating how free spaces are effective in discursive communities affected by the aftermath of historical dominance and still vulnerable to the ploys of power, Walk into Your Season illustrates cultural work in two different settings: one with a history of free spaces, Thirty First Street Baptist Church, and one without a history of free spaces, older youth transitioning from foster care in the Richmond Department of Social Services. By uniting a group's words, narrative, images, visual art, music, film, and other cultural legacies of voice in an effort to inform and inspire individual and
