Allen, United States. Bureau of Indian Affairs. Division of Education, 1969 How I Wrote Jubilee and Other Essays on Life and Literature Margaret Walker, 1990 This first comprehensive collection of Margaret Walker's autobiographical and literary essays has been acclaimed as a powerful social history and as a serious study of black American literature Kirkus Review In the title essay Walker recounts the search for family and social history from which she wrote her carefully researched novel of the Civil War The autobiographical essays reflect on her work and her life as an artist as African American and a woman while the literary essays examine the writings of such giants as Richard Wright W E B DuBois Phyllis Wheatley Georgia Douglas Johnson and others Spanning a half century 1943 to 1988 these brilliant intimate writings capture the flavor of the times and powerfully convey the social and literary thoughts that distinguishes Walker as one of the intellectual beacons of her generation Booklist

Visions of Belonging Judith E. Smith, 2004-09-01 Visions of Belonging explores how beloved and still remembered family stories A Tree Grows in Brooklyn I Remember Mama Gentleman s Agreement Death of a Salesman Marty and A Raisin in the Sun entered the popular imagination and shaped collective dreams in the postwar years and into the 1950s These stories helped define widely shared conceptions of who counted as representative Americans and who could be recognized as belonging The book listens in as white and black authors and directors readers and viewers reveal divergent emotionally textured and politically charged social visions Their diverse perspectives provide a point of entry into an extraordinary time when the possibilities for social transformation seemed boundless But changes were also fiercely contested especially as the war s culture of unity receded in the resurgence of cold war anticommunism and demands for racial equality were met with intensifying white resistance Judith E Smith traces the cultural trajectory of these family stories as they circulated widely in bestselling paperbacks hit movies and popular drama on stage radio and television Visions of Belonging provides unusually close access to a vibrant conversation among white and black Americans about the boundaries between public life and family matters and the meanings of race and ethnicity Would the new appearance of white working class ethnic characters expand Americans understanding of democracy Would these stories challenge the color line How could these stories simultaneously show that black families belonged to the larger family of the nation while also representing the forms of danger and discriminations that excluded them from full citizenship In the 1940s war driven challenges to racial and ethnic borderlines encouraged hesitant trespass against older notions of normal But by the end of the 1950s the cold war cultural atmosphere discouraged probing of racial and social inequality and ultimately turned family stories into a comforting retreat from politics The book crosses disciplinary boundaries suggesting a novel method for cultural history by probing the social history of literary dramatic and cinematic texts Smith s innovative use of archival research sets authorial intent next to audience reception to show how both contribute to shaping the contested meanings of American belonging

Telling Stories, Writing Songs Kathleen Hudson, 2010-07-05 Willie Nelson Joe Ely Marcia Ball Tish Hinojosa Stevie Ray Vaughan Lyle Lovett the list of popular songwriters from Texas just goes on and on In this collection of thirty four interviews with these and other songwriters Kathleen Hudson pursues the stories behind the songs letting the singers own words describe where their songs come from and how the diverse eclectic cultures landscapes and musical traditions of Texas inspire the creative process Conducted in dance halls dressing rooms parking lots clubs wherever the musicians could take time to tell their stories the interviews are refreshingly spontaneous and vivid Hudson draws out the songwriters on such topics as the sources of their songs the influence of other musicians on their work the progress of their careers and the nature of Texas music Many common threads emerge from these stories while the uniqueness of each songwriter becomes equally apparent To round out the collection Hudson interviews Larry McMurtry and Darrell Royal for their perspectives as longtime friends and fans of Texas musicians She also includes a brief biography and discography of each songwriter
