Steps Statements Of Entitlement To Play A Framework For Playful Teaching With 3 7 Year Olds:

StEPs Janet R. Moyles, Sian Adams, 2001 The basis of this video and book Pack StEPs is a belief in the rights of the young child to appropriate opportunities to be children and to learn in playful and meaningful ways It is also predicated upon a view that practitioners working with young children have equal rights to teach using playful strategies Children and adults are responsible for making the most of the playful learning and teaching opportunities provided in quality early childhood settings and to ensure that the curriculum statutory or recommended is implemented efficiently and effectively The view taken throughout is that there is no conflict between being accountable to parents politicians or providers for children's learning and offering play experiences as the basis for that learning Playful teaching and learning are discussed and exemplified throughout the two elements of the Pack The video offers viewers a chance to see some of the practitioners who contributed to the Pack in their own settings using aspects of StEPs to support their everyday teaching and learning One of the major intentions of the Pack is that it should be used by practitioners and settings or those undertaking training sessions with them to both evaluate and extend play practices The video child development charts planning sheets and other documentation explained in various sections support a variety of uses across a range of settings reflecting different backgrounds and ethos Once the framework is understood the StEPs themselves offer endless opportunities for development of quality learning experiences for children and for articulation explanation and advocacy of quality practice by practitioners to parents inspectors and those who evaluate settings EBOOK: Early Explorations in Science Jane Johnston, 2005-07-16 Reviewers comments on the first edition Jane Johnston communicates a sense of effervescent enthusiasm for teaching and science and her treatment is comprehensive TES The ideas and recommendations based on considerable classroom experience make this book a valuable aid to students and reflective early years practitioners Primary Science Review At last A serious attempt to explore the scientific potential of infant and pre school children The author explains how scientific skills can be developed at an early stage stimulating the natural inquisitive streak in children This book will start you thinking about science in a much more positive light Child Education This accessible and practical book supports good scientific practice in the early years It helps practitioners to be creative providers and shows them how to develop awe and wonder of the world in the children they teach The book highlights the importance of a motivating learning environment and skilled interaction with well trained adults In addition fundamental issues are explored such as the range nature and philosophical underpinning of early years experiences and the development of emergent scientific skills understandings and attitudes New features for this edition include An extended age range encompassing early learning from 0 8 Updated material for the Foundation Stage Curriculum for 3 5 year olds and the National Curriculum 2000 for 5 8 year olds A new chapter focusing on conceptual understanding and thinking skills in the early years An emphasis on the importance of informal learning and play in early development The book introduces and discusses new research and thinking in early years and science education throughout making it relevant for current practice This is an indispensable resource for all trainee and practising primary school teachers and early years practitioners Thinking and Learning About Mathematics in the Early Years Linda Pound, 2008-03-20 An exploration of children's mathematical development to show how you can encourage and enhance the numeracy skills of any child in the early years by linking maths to every day life and making it a playful and enjoyable cross curricular activity Books In Print 2004-2005 Ed Bowker Staff, Staff Bowker, Ed, 2004 The British National
