The Steptoe and Son Encyclopedia Brian Carver,2024-05-30 Steptoe and Son is a classic British sitcom that ran on the BBC between 1962-74. The series has two iconic characters Albert Steptoe and his rag and bone man son Harold Wildred Brambell as Albert and Harry H Corbett as Harold both give wonderful performances in the series. As well as being a great comedy Steptoe and Son has many dramatic elements and social commentary relating to the relationship between father and son, changes in society, their working class existence and their rather old-fashioned rag and bone trade. Television and Consumer Culture Rob Turnock,2007-07-30 The radical expansion of television broadcasting in the post-war years and beyond both reflected and promoted a cultural revolution sweeping across British society. Reaching out to a mass audience for the first time, the new television industry made visible the transition from drab austerity and seeming cultural consensus to the brash, heady glitz and individualism of the new consumer age. Television and Consumer Culture explores television's institutional, technological and programming developments during this period, revealing how genres as different as action-adventure series, serious dramas, situation comedies and quiz and game shows simultaneously promoted both consumer culture and class conflict. Drawing on historical analysis and sociological theory and looking at issues such as celebrity, scheduling, intimacy and sociability, Turnock argues that television during this era established and promoted itself as a culturally powerful force, a fact that has implications for the way that media power is understood to operate today.

Television in Ireland Edward Brennan,2019-01-25 This book explores the question of how society has changed with the introduction of private screens Taking the history of television in Ireland as a case study due to its position at the intersection of British and American media influences this work argues that internationally the transnational nature of television has been obscured by a reliance on institutional historical sources This has in turn muted the diversity of audience experiences in terms of class gender and geography By shifting the focus away from the default national lens and instead turning to audience memories as a key source A Post Nationalist History of Television in Ireland defies the notion of a homogenous national television experience and embraces the diverse and transnational nature of watching television Turning to people s memories of past media this study ultimately suggests that the arrival of the television in Ireland and elsewhere was part of a long term incremental change where the domestic and the intimate became increasingly fused with the global Good
