Steroid Cell Interactions:

Steroid-Cell Interactions R. J. B. King, W. I. P. Mainwaring, 2014-05-20 Steroid Cell Interactions describes the processes involved in the intracellular binding of steroids and related compounds in mammalian cells. Serum binding proteins and steroid immunoglobulin interaction are also discussed along with the relationship of these binding processes to the biological action of the steroid. This book consists of 10 chapters and begins by presenting an elementary account of the factors contributing to the interaction between a steroid hormone and another molecule. The discussion then turns to the three types of methods used to study the interaction between steroids and tissue receptors: cell fractionation, autoradiography, and the separation of specifically and non specifically bound steroids. The next chapter deals with the metabolism of steroid hormones in relation to their binding and mechanism of action, focusing on testosterone and progesterone. The reader is also introduced to the intracellular binding of androgens, glucocorticoids, mineralocorticoids, and estrogens, and to how binding is related to biological activity. The final chapter reviews the clinical and immunological data relevant to steroid protein binding. This text will be of interest to students and practitioners of biology, biochemistry, and physiology. Steroid-Cell Interactions

R.J.B. King and W.I.P. Mainwaring Roger John Benjamin King, W. I. P. Mainwaring, 1974 Ovarian Cell Interactions

Aaron J.W. Hsueh, David W. Schomberg, 2012-12-06 Due to the introduction of molecular and cellular biology approaches, our understanding of ovarian physiology has reached a new level during the last few years. The present volume provides a new perspective on the ovary from molecular and cellular to whole organ levels, from non mammalian and rodent to human levels, and from paracrine, neuroendocrine, and endocrine levels as well. These papers represent the proceedings of the Ninth Ovarian Workshop sponsored by Sero Symposia USA, July 9-11, 1992, in Chapel Hill, North Carolina. Clinical Interest of dealing with the clinical relevance of steroid hormone receptors in breast cancer have already been published. However, no publication has overviewed studies currently being conducted in Europe, nor is there a register of the European centers performing receptor assays. It has been our purpose to fill these gaps. A large majority of authors who we contacted kindly agreed to contribute to our book. Papers were grouped into six main parts according to their contents. The abundance of clinical data relevant to receptor assays led us to add critical summaries to help the reader to form his own opinions on the subject. We would like to thank Drs R. J. B. King, G. Contesso, L. Santi and E. Engelsman who helped us in this regard. We hope that this book will enable the reader to become acquainted with the present state of European steroid hormone receptor studies devoted to breast cancer treatment. We also hope that it will promote cooperation between European oncologists involved in this field of research.

Steroid Hormone Receptors in Breast Cancer G. Leclercq, S. Toma, R. Paridaens, J. C. Heuson, 2012-12-06 Several papers

27th International Congress of Pure and Applied Chemistry A.

Varmavuori, 2013-10-22. 27th International Congress of Pure and Applied Chemistry is a collection of lectures presented at the 27th Congress of the International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry held in Helsinki, Finland, on August 27-31, 1979. The event covers a wide range of topics relating to chemistry, including biotechnology and bioengineering, trace element analysis, modern methods in clinical chemistry and analysis, and structure of cell membrane carbohydrates. Chemometrics is also discussed, along with the chemistry and technology of natural polymers and their degradation products. This book consists of 36 chapters and opens with an assessment of prospects for biotechnology amid the resource problems facing industrialized countries. The reader is then introduced to the main principles of screening effective anticancer drugs based on the methods and concepts of biology, chemistry, physics, and mathematics; the fundamental principles involved in steroid immunoassay for clinical chemistry applications; fractionation and determination of trace elements in plants, soils, and sediments; and trace metal analysis in exploration geochemistry. The following chapters explore clinical applications of steroid hormone receptor assays; asparagine-linked sugar chains of glycoproteins; chemistry and technology of starch; and use of high performance liquid chromatography in the analysis of red blood cell glycolipids. This monograph will be a valuable source of information for practitioners and research workers in the field of pure and applied chemistry.

Genetic Effects on Aging

David E. Harrison, 1990-08-09. This volume provides background knowledge useful to those setting out to do genetic studies of aging in mammals and raises vital questions: How many genes are important in mammalian aging? What are the optimal methods for their study? To what degree are patterns of aging and patterns of growth and development part of the same process? Do patterns of development predict subsequent patterns of growth and aging? Are there a few fundamental aging processes or does every biological system age? The rapid rate of progress in this field required a new volume with a new approach based on the combination of classical genetics and the powerful new tools of molecular genetics. Although mammalian systems are emphasized representatives of the advanced genetic studies in Drosophila and other model systems are included The purpose is to enrich and stimulate genetic studies of mammalian aging by suggesting and evaluating future possibilities

Van Der Molen, R.J.B. King, 1988-11-01 The aim of these two volumes is to provide an up to date text about the developments in the field during the last 5 10 years Authors with an outstanding record both as active investigators and as critical reviewers have been selected The result is an integrated collection of contributions forming a fundamental reference work for undergraduate and graduate students and for those involved in research and teaching in biochemistry and related subjects Part I contains 15 papers dealing with general aspects of hormones and their actions Transport and Inherited Disease C. Toothill, N.R.R. Belton, 2012-12-06 Many clinical problems of transport have been known for decades particularly those disorders involving the liver and kidney As a result of the dramatic increase in interest in transport at the membrane level the Society devoted its Seventeenth Symposium held at Leeds during September 1979 to Transport and Inherited Disease the result of that meeting forming the basis of this monograph For the occasion over a hundred members and guests of the Society were joined by many invited speakers from Europe and the USA to discuss this rapidly developing field with special reference to the direct interests of the Society in inherited metabolic disease The major theme of the meeting was opened with formal scientific presentations on membrane structure synthesis and the regulation of epithelial transport These were followed by discussions of specific problems of transport in brain kidney and red blood cells Almost all of these later lectures had clinical applications with cystic fibrosis and nephrogenic diabetes insipidus featuring as examples of the common inherited diseases The Hudson Memorial Lecture was delivered by Professor H Bickel Heidelberg This outstanding review lecture on Phenylketonuria past present and future is reproduced in the Journal of the Society the Journal of Inherited Metabolic Disease Volume 3 No 4 pp 123 132 xiii xiv PREFACE The members papers both oral and poster are also being reprinted in various issues of the Journal published by MTP Press Ltd Lancaster UK National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1974 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965 70 Subject Index of Current Extramural Research Administered by the National Cancer Institute National Cancer Institute (U.S.), 1976 Provides information concerning research grants and contracts supported by the National Cancer Institute

Special Focus on the Biology of Aging Vincent J. Cristofalo, M. Powell Lawton, 2013-12-17 Hormones and Cancer Wendell W. Leavitt, 2013-04-17 The papers in this volume were presented at the Symposium on Hormones and Cancer held March 24 26 1980 at the Worcester Foundation for Experimental Biology Shrewsbury MA The meeting was organized to review recent advances in basic and clinical research work on hormone responsive tumors of the reproductive system The association between protracted hormone action and cancer of the reproductive system is now irrefutable Yet we still do not know how hormones initiate and promote neoplastic transformation of their target cells A major effort is currently being directed at understanding the hormonal regulation of neoplastic cells especially those arising from the breast uterus pituitary gland and prostate The symposium brought together leading experts whose research is focused on this important area of human health Although many questions remain to be answered by future studies the material covered in this volume provides an up to date overview of the current status of work in this area The subjects range from the mechanism of hormone action to the treatment of hormone dependent tumors and topics include estrogen progestin androgen and glucocorticoid action hormone receptors specific protein responses developmental effects of estrogens and antiestrogens the DES syndrome regulation of the cell cycle therapeutic effects of antiestrogens aromatase inhibitors iodoestrogens progestins on estrogen dependent tumors characterization of retinoid binding sites and the utility of various tumor markers Cumulated Index
