The Idea Of God And Human Freedom:

The idea of God and human freedom Wolfhart Pannenberg, 1971 God and Human Freedom Leigh C. Vicens, Simon Kittle, 2019-07-04 This Element considers the relationship between the traditional view of God as all powerful all knowing and wholly good on the one hand and the idea of human free will on the other It focuses on the potential threats to human free will arising from two divine attributes God's exhaustive foreknowledge and God's providential control of creation

Conceptions of God, Freedom, and Ethics in African American and Jewish Theology K. Buhring, 2008-05-12 This book is a consideration of major contemporary Black and Jewish understanding of God examining how profound faith in a just God is sustained and even strengthened in the face of particularly horrific and long standing evil and suffering in a community

The Tragedy of Human Freedom Martien E. Brinkman, 2021-11-15 Human freedom has been the source of both the high points of humanity as well as of its low points thus giving rise to the impression that it is a somewhat ambivalent concept According to Martien Brinkman the major factor in this ambivalence is the rather narrow meaning that the concept has received in the course of history Freedom is for the most part understood as freedom from or freedom to but only rarely as freedom for However it is precisely this latter understanding that is closest to the Christian understanding of freedom which Brinkman defines as internal attachment In his view Christian freedom is at bottom characterized by that to which one commits oneself in trust He sees primarily the Christian theology of baptism with its accent on dying and rising with Christ as the model for the way in which one acquires freedom Brinkman illustrates this in this study by means of a great number of biblical images and images borrowed from the historical debates between Augustine and Pelagius and Luther and Erasmus

Here Am I! Adrio Konig, 2011-08-01 Adrio Konig is among those theologians in South Africa who are attempting to break away from a traditional fundamentalist approach to the Bible typical of an older Dutch generation raised on the Neo Calvinism of Abraham Kuyper This younger generation of Reformed theologians from South Africa wants to make use of a far wider theological spectrum than merely the Netherlands This book focusing on the doctrine of God is an excellent example of contemporary theological thinking by an outstanding member of this generation Konig strongly asserts that his book is unlike most doctrines of God in that it is not about God in himself as is most scholastic and classical Protestant theology but rather about God in certain relationships While God does exist over and above his relationships and his actions and is thus more and greater than his deeds and relationships it is only through his deeds and relationships that we know God Konig goes on to explore specifically four relationships God to the gods God to man God to history and God to the future The Texture of Mystery J. Bradley Wigger, 1998 This book relies upon the revolutionary work of James Jerome Gibson and his ecological approach to perception in order to reconstruct some basic assumptions about sensing knowing and learning Instead of a closed system Gibson's work can be understood as corresponding to an open systems universe Learning has to do with how bodily perceptive systems attend to the inexhaustible and inherently meaningful reality in which we discover ourselves

The Idea of Beginning in Jules Lequier's Philosophy Ghislain Deslandes, 2022-12-19 The Idea of Beginning in Jules Lequier s Philosophy analyzes the work of an author mostly unknown in Anglophone countries but who greatly influenced the trajectory of French philosophy over the last two centuries Jules Lequier in The Search for a First Truth argues that beginning such a search is the goal towards which philosophy must tend To achieve this Lequier established a postulate that of freedom against necessity and set out a program as an inaugural gesture TO MAKE not to become but to make and in making TO MAKE ONESELF By the fertility of possible beginnings the making in Lequier is always first and radical As Ghislain Deslandes reveals in this exploration of Lequier s work that something new is possible in philosophy after all and that it should even be possible to invent it in other fields applying the principle that everything is to be relearned and started again but in another truth Deslandes explores parallels between the classical antiphilosophers Pascal and Kierkegaard and Lequier whose importance to French philosophy is today better documented and more widely recognized

Explaining the Cosmos Michael W. Champion, 2013-12-13 Explaining the Cosmos analyzes the writings of three thinkers associated with Gaza Aeneas Zacharias and Procopius Together they offer a case study for the appropriation adaptation and transformation of classical philosophy in late antiquity and for cultural transitions more generally in Gaza Aeneas claimed that the Academy and Lyceum had been transferred to Gaza This book asks what the cultural and intellectual characteristics of the Gazan Academies were and how members of the schools mixed with local cultures of Christians philosophers rhetoricians and monks from the local monasteries Aeneas Zacharias and Procopius each contributed to debates about the creation and eternity of the world which ran from the Neoplatonist Proclus into the sixth century disputes between Philoponus Simplicius and Cosmas Indicopleustes The Gazan contribution is significant in its own right highlighting distinctive aspects of late antique Christianity and it throws the later philosophical debates into sharper relief Focusing on the creation debates also allows for exploration of the local cultures that constituted Gazan society in the late fifth and early sixth centuries Explaining the Cosmos further explores cultural dynamics in the Gazan schools and monasteries and the wider cultural history of the city. The Gazans adapt and transform aspects of Classical and Neoplatonic culture while rejecting Neoplatonic religious claims. The study also analyses the Gazans' intellectual contributions in the context of Neoplatonism and early Christianity. The Gaza which emerges from this study is a set of cultures in transition, mutually constituting and transforming each other through a fugal pattern of exchange, adaptation, conflict and collaboration.
